ALEX G. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board

Alexander Gus Spanos is a shining example of how the American spirit of hard work and determination can pay off for those willing to follow their dreams. This spirit has led to great successes throughout every facet of his business and personal life, including A.G. Spanos Companies — the nation's largest privately-held apartment construction company — and the San Diego Chargers.

This dedication to success also has carried over to the San Diego community and his leadership of the Chargers' football team. His love for San Diego and the Chargers have paid countless dividends for the community and were never more apparent than this offseason.

"I've never been so happy," said Spanos in February after a Superior Court judge's decision upheld the City's means for financing the expansion and renovation of Qualcomm Stadium, thus solidifying the team's future in San Diego. "The fans really stepped up and showed how much the Chargers mean to San Diego and how much they care about the team. I love San Diego, and I couldn't be happier to get this behind us.

"I really like all of the changes going on at the stadium, and the fans are going to see a lot of changes in our team this year as well. I like everything we're doing, and I just can't wait for the season to get here.

"The enthusiasm surrounding this season has been fantastic," Spanos said prior to training camp. "We've got a new stadium, a new coaching staff and a lot of quality new players. This is the beginning of an exciting new era for the Chargers. Think about it ... what could be better than to hand our fans the world championship they deserve playing right here in San Diego."

It's the goal of Spanos and the Chargers to get back to the playoffs where they competed following three of the past five seasons. It was just three short years ago that Spanos' Chargers played in Super Bowl XXIX in Miami.

"It was the greatest feeling I've ever had in my career, and a tremendous accomplishment for this organization," said Spanos. "What I enjoyed most was watching the fans enjoy it. The city deserved it. Our fans deserved it.

"But I won't settle for second best. The only goal for me and this football team is to win the Super Bowl."

The greatest season in Chargers' history heralded a series of events which illustrate one man's unending dedication to the team and the City of San Diego.

Shortly after returning from Super Bowl XXIX, Spanos inked a new lease agreement with the city that ensures San Diego will remain the home of the Chargers through the year 2020. The new agreement also provides for a new, state-of-the-art practice facility and an expansion and refurbishing of Qualcomm Stadium (formerly Jack Murphy Stadium) to make it one of the country's finest facilities heading into the 21st century.

Spanos' commitment to San Diego was further made evident in a two-fold announcement in May, 1995.

The Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation was created and funded by Spanos to "help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live." Simultaneously, Spanos announced that the first project of the Foundation would be a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million fundraising effort for the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum, for which he serves on the advisory board.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the city and the people who have been so supportive of me, my family and the Chargers over the years."

The Foundation has quickly turned into one of the most active fundraising organizations in the community. This offseason it held its second annual "Chargers Challenge" 10K run and 5K fun run and walk. It benefits two facets of life closest to Spanos' heart — children and sports — as proceeds go to the local San Diego and Palomar Pop Warner football conferences. The Foundation also holds very popular and successful football classes called "NFL 101 for Women," teaching the basics of the sport while raising funds for such charities as the Polinsky Center for abused children. A benefit golf tournament is planned for 1998 with a net goal of $1 million for charity.

Spanos' philanthropy extends nationwide. Earlier this year Spanos gave a generous donation of $1 million to the American Red Cross to help flood victims in Northern California. The million-dollar donation was given to the needy in Stanislaus, Sacramento and San Joaquin counties to help victims recover from the disaster of nearly two weeks of rains. He also promised Elizabeth Dole, the president of the national organization, that he would help raise an additional $1 million by encouraging other people to make contributions.

Spanos' generosity again drew national attention a year ago when he came to the rescue of a California woman who was stranded in a Cambodian hospital after being badly burned in an accident while serving as a volunteer teacher. After he learned that the woman, a resident of his hometown of Stockton, California, had no money or medical insurance and was not receiving the proper medical care, he sent his private jet to bring her home.

Much to his surprise, the American Cinema Awards Foundation honored Spanos last year with the Gloria Swanson Humanitarian Award for "his numerous contributions to the arts and educational institutions as well as civic and athletic organizations." Former President Gerald Ford and his wife, Betty, presented the award at the Foundation's 11th Annual All-Star Gala.

In 1995, Spanos donated more than $100,000 for the development of a multi-use sports facility for the Pacific Beach community and the students of Kate Sessions Elementary and The Bishops School. The Alex G. Spanos Sports Fields were dedicated in 1997. Spanos was honored in 1995 by the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce and the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau and received their Chairman's Award for his contributions to the city and community. He received the Golden Achievement Award from the San Diego Boys and Girls Clubs, the group's highest honor for community involvement and youth-related support. California Governor Pete Wilson presented the award to Spanos.

Long before the team's fantastic Super Bowl season, Spanos' love for sports and San Diego paid dividends for the City.

In 1993, Spanos is widely credited for using his influence with the NFL and its owners to land Super Bowl XXXII for the City of San Diego. The game, which will be played Jan. 25, 1998, in Qualcomm Stadium, is projected to bring close to $300 million to the community.

He also was instrumental in bringing the 1996 Republican National Convention to San Diego, another financial coup for the city.

In 1994, he kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with a $100,000 pledge and challenge to the local community. His donation led to a successful effort to complete the first phase of the Southern California facility.

He also has been a strong supporter of high school sports in San Diego. Spanos annually sponsors the CIF San Diego Section football championships, allowing the games to be played in Qualcomm Stadium. His backing of the San Diego High School Sports Association and the San Diego County high school all-star football game led to the game being named the Alex Spanos All-Star Football Classic.

He has donated substantially to benefit critically ill youngsters at Children's Hospital and Health Center in San Diego. In 1985, Spanos was chairman of San Diego Children's Hospital's first Miracle Network Telethon. In 1987, he served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and was chairman of the Loaned Executive campaign during the annual United Way/CHAD drive in San Diego County.

In 1984, when Spanos was offered the opportunity to purchase the Chargers, he put the decision to a vote before the board of directors of the A.G. Spanos Companies.

"The vote was 10 to two not to buy the ball club," he recalls. But the chairman used his veto power to overrule. "I told them, 'When you turn 60 you'll understand.'"

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams," Spanos characteristically said in announcing his intention to buy the team. "For me, it has been a lifelong goal to own an NFL team. In buying the San Diego Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream."

On Aug. 1, 1984, the dream became reality.

Throughout his ownership, Spanos has moved with strength and vision to form a solid foundation for success and build the Chargers into annual contenders for the AFC Western Division crown. The hiring of General Manager Bobby Beathard, one of the most respected football men in the National Football League, was hailed around the league. He has aggressively pursued and signed some of the top players in football. In 1994, he paid more in players' signing bonuses than all but one team. Spanos modernized and upgraded the team's summer training camp facilities by building the state-of-the-art Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building at the University of California-San Diego. He upgraded the organization's practice facilities, locker rooms and offices on several occasions during the years prior to moving out of the stadium and into the team's new facility.

Spanos' commitment to the NFL was recognized when NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue named him to the League's Expansion and Realignment Committee in 1991. He helped develop recommendations on expansion issues which greatly affected the future of pro football. He also serves on the League's Legislative Committee.

In 1991, Spanos was invited by President George Bush to join him on a two-day goodwill trip to Greece and drew praise from the Chief Executive who singled him out as an American of Greek heritage who has achieved success in America. During an address to the Greek Parliament, Bush credited Spanos with making "a tremendous imprint in our country" and cited his continued efforts to promote stronger ties between the two countries.

And when America needed a helping hand, Spanos was there to deliver. He spearheaded the most aggressive fundraising campaign during the Gulf War crisis and delivered the most successful fundraising event in the history of the United Service Organization. As National Chairman of the U.S.O.'s Golden Anniversary Salute Luncheon April 5, 1991, in Los Angeles, he guided an effort which raised more than $4.5 million, including $250,000 from the NFL through NFL Charities. The luncheon was attended by President Bush, former Presidents Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford, Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, General Colin Powell, and the U.S.O.'s Ambassador of Goodwill, Bob Hope.

These accomplishments demonstrate the commitment of a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family and community have been an inspiring example for others.

Spanos was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, California. He developed his tireless work ethic early, starting as an eight-year-old in his father's restaurant, rising before dawn to help prepare pastries before attending school. In 1951, Spanos borrowed $800, purchased a truck and set out on his own. He began his own catering business serving migrant farm workers in the San Joaquin Valley. Spanos later began investing in real estate and in 1960 formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company.

Spanos is the founder and chairman of 11 companies bearing his name, including A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Properties, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Marketing, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; A.G. Spanos Jet Center; A.G. Spanos Land Company and The Spanos Corporation.

Throughout his rags-to-riches life, Spanos has always treasured family and community above all else.

Though one of the nation's most productive corporate businesses, the A.G. Spanos organization continues as a family-run operation. Eldest son Dean serves as President/Vice Chairman of the Chargers and the Spanos corporate organization as well as Vice Chairman of AGS Financial. Son Michael manages the construction and development activities in the western and southeastern divisions of the company and is the Executive Vice President of the Chargers. Together, they are the driving force behind each business venture.

A son of Greek immigrants, Spanos' hard work and determination to succeed was recognized in 1986 when he was one of a select group of 80 Americans awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation and the New York Statue of Liberty Commission. In a special ceremony on Ellis Island, the honorees were cited for being "outstanding American citizens who have distinguished themselves in their respective fields of endeavor, while preserving the values of their particular heritage."

Spanos is Honorary Regent of the University of the Pacific and a Trustee of the Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Springs. He was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree by the University of the Pacific on the same day he gave the commencement address to the 1984 graduating class. In 1989, he received the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith's National Distinguished Community Service Award for devotion to community and concern for others.

Spanos also was the founder and driving force behind seven biennial fundraising "Evening of Elegance" dinners benefiting assorted children's charities including San Diego Children's Hospital and Health Center. Proceeds from the last "Evening of Elegance" held in 1985 topped the $1 million mark.

Another side to this complex man was revealed with the help of his close friend Bob Hope. Spanos displayed an entertainer's talent and flair when he lived a childhood dream and danced on stage. Together, they sang and danced on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad.

Spanos' acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was the first person ever to be on the winning teams in both the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert (1977) and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am in Epsom, England (1980). In 1987 Spanos was inducted into the Stockton Athletic Hall of Fame.

Alex and Faye have four children — Dean, Dea (Mrs. Ron Berberian), Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael — and 14 grandchildren. They maintain residences in Stockton and Palm Springs, California, and Tarpon Springs, Florida.

DEAN A. SPANOS

President/Vice Chairman

Dean Spanos has been running the San Diego Chargers since he took over as President/Vice Chairman in 1994. But his presence has been felt in the organization and in the San Diego community since the day his family moved to La Jolla, California, in 1984.

After his father, Alex Spanos, purchased majority interest in the team on Aug. 1, 1984, Dean was the man behind the scenes for the Chargers while serving as President of all Spanos corporate entities and Vice Chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation. While maintaining his roll in The Spanos Corporation, Dean now also carries the full burden of running the Chargers.

Spanos oversees the management and administration of personnel and fiscal matters of the Chargers. He also plays a prominent role in league affairs as he attends all league meetings and serves on the NFL Films Committee.

When Alex Spanos turned the Chargers over to his eldest son in January, 1994, he had just one request:

"I said to him, 'Deno, the ball club is yours,' " said Alex Spanos. " 'You run it the best way you know how. Whatever your needs are, just let me know. All I hope for is to get to the playoffs.' Now, could you imagine what a year we had. He took us to the Super Bowl in his first year."

General Manager Bobby Beathard is just as vocal in praising Dean's leadership and contributions.

"The guy that makes it all work for us is Deno," said Beathard.

Dean immediately took on the task of securing the Chargers' future in San Diego. He showed the Spanos family's commitment to San Diego by negotiating a new lease between the team and the City which provides San Diego with pro football and the team with a home through the year 2020. The agreement also calls for plans to permanently expand the seating capacity of Qualcomm Stadium (formerly Jack Murphy Stadium) to accommodate more than 71,000 fans and modernize the 31-year-old stadium. Also as part of the new deal, Spanos oversaw the plans and construction of the team's new offices and practice facility, which are among the finest in the National Football League. The new facility was completed in August, 1997.

"This new lease ensures that both the Chargers and Qualcomm Stadium will always be the pride of our community," Dean said.

In addition to his role with the Chargers, he doubles as President of all Spanos' corporate entities and Vice Chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation from his office in the Chargers' new facility. He is responsible for all construction operations nationwide and all financial matters relating to the acquisition and development of projects for the Spanos organization. For the past 26 years, Dean has been working alongside his father in apartment construction and land development.

Dean attended the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California, from which he received a degree in business administration in 1972. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a Regent at the University.

Dean's busy career in business and the National Football League hasn't hampered his status as one of the nation's most successful amateur golfers. An avid golfer since his college years, he has been on the winning team in four Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where he teamed with Hubert Green. He was on the winning team at the Hope Classic again in 1991. Spanos and Green won the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach in 1985, where Dean was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Also in 1985, he was on the winning team in the Senior Players Reunion Pro-Am in Dallas with Billy Casper.

Dean Alexander Spanos was born May 26, 1950, in Stockton. He was an outstanding member of the Lincoln High School golf team in Stockton before continuing his golfing career at the University of the Pacific. Dean received the Lincoln High Hall of Fame Award which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics.

Dean has become an integral part of the local community since moving to San Diego. He is on the board of directors of the San Diego International Sports Council, an elite group of San Diego business executives whose purpose is to promote and enhance sports of all kinds in San Diego. Dean also is on the board of the San Diego Economic Development Corporation as well as the San Diego Inner-City Games. He has been a major contributor and supporter of the American Cancer Society in San Diego and the United Way. Dean also was co-chairman of the US WEST Cellular/San Diego Chargers Charity Classic benefiting Children's Hospital in 1993.

Dean and his wife, Susie, reside in La Jolla, California, with their sons, Alexander Gus (July 2, 1978) and John Dean (Nov. 7, 1979). A.G. is a sophomore business major at the University of Southern California. As a freshman he attended Tufts University in Medford, Mass., where he was a member of the football team. He received six varsity letters as a two-sport athlete (basketball and football) at La Jolla Country Day School. John is a senior at The Bishops School. Through a variety of sports, including football, basketball and golf, John has already earned six varsity letters.

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Executive Vice President

Michael Spanos, the youngest son of Alex Spanos, and Executive Vice President of all the A.G. Spanos corporate entities, assumed the same position in the Chargers' management team in 1995.

Michael, 38, assists Chargers President/Vice Chairman Dean Spanos in financial matters related to the ball club and relevant issues pertaining to the National Football League, which includes representing the Chargers at annual league meetings.

Michael has been an executive in the Spanos corporate organization for 17 years. He is responsible for all activities in construction, property management and land acquisition in the Southeast United States and Northern California. Born in Stockton, California, in 1959, he attended Lincoln High School and then the University of the Pacific, where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration.

In 1989, Michael was appointed to the Board of Regents at the University of the Pacific where he served for five years. He also served as a trustee on the Board of Dameron Hospital and is very active in the Greek Orthodox Church. He contributes both his time and resources to the church and many other charitable causes in his hometown of Stockton.

Michael and his wife, Helen, live in Stockton with their four sons — Michael, Christopher, Andreas and Thomas.

BOBBY BEATHARD

General Manager
35th NFL Season
8th Season with Chargers

The San Diego Chargers journey into exciting new territory in 1997. They have a new coaching staff, several key free agent additions, a state-of-the-art training facility, and a renovated stadium. But one constant remains — the blueprint of one of the NFL's most successful general managers, Bobby Beathard.

In his search for a new head coach, Beathard immediately targeted Kevin Gilbride.

"The commitment and support of the Spanos family and the ability of Bobby Beathard and his staff are two of the main reasons I decided to come to San Diego," said Gilbride when he was hired in January.

"The search around the league just emphasized our original thoughts that Kevin is a well-respected and rising talent in this league," said Beathard. "His knowledge of offensive and defensive schemes in today's NFL is unsurpassed."

After securing Gilbride and a completely new coaching staff, Beathard and the team's player personnel department set out to revamp and strengthen the Chargers' roster. He pursued the NFL's top veteran free agents and resigned the team's most valuable players who were eligible for free agency. By the end of the 1997 offseason, no team had signed as many sought-after NFL stars and resigned as many of its own key performers as the Chargers.

"This is the best offseason we've had since we've been here," said Beathard. "We've kept the players we intended to keep and added a number of players who are not only talented but are leaders. And leadership is one area we've been searching for."

The list of players signed by the Chargers in 1997 reads like a "who's-who" of the NFL's top names: Eric Metcalf — professional football's top active all-purpose yards leader, William Fuller — the NFL's sack leader among defensive ends over the past three seasons, Jim Everett — the NFL's seventh-leading active passer, stalwart center Raleigh McKenzie, multi-talented running back Erric Pegram, former 1,000-yard rusher Gary Brown, all-purpose fullbacks Aaron Craver and Carwell Gardner, hard-hitting safeties Michael Dumas and Ray Jackson, punishing tight end Frank Hartley and special teams stand-out cornerback Johnny Thomas. All fit perfectly into Gilbride's offensive and defensive plans.

This infusion of talent will complement the core of outstanding veterans already populating the Chargers' lineup. Several of San Diego's top players came up for free agency this year, but Beathard and his staff were determined to find a way to keep the team intact.

Pro Bowl wide receiver Tony Martin, named the Chargers' Most Valuable Player and Offensive Player of the Year in 1996, was resigned to a four-year deal. Rodney Harrison, the team's 1996 Defensive Player of the Year, was resigned to a three-year deal. Cornerback Dwayne Harper, San Diego's 1995 co-Most Valuable Player, inked a four-year contract. Linebacker Lew Bush, defensive tackle Reuben Davis and defensive end Raylee Johnson were retained by the Chargers after being wooed by other NFL teams. The Chargers also resigned tackles Tony Berti and Vaughn Parker, guards Isaac Davis and Troy Sienkiewicz, wide receiver Andre Coleman, center Greg Engel, cornerbacks Willie Clark and Mark Montreuil, safety David Hendrix and quarterback Craig Whelihan.

Beathard's stamp is clearly evident on the Chargers. Heading into 1997, no player remains on the roster who was with the team prior to his arrival.

When Alex Spanos named Beathard general manager of the Chargers January 3, 1990, it brought hope to a city thirsting for a winner. He turned the NFL's oldest team of the 1970s — the Washington Redskins — into one of the most successful organizations of the 1980s. In just his third season in San Diego the organization won its first AFC Western Division championship in more than a decade and, after five years, appeared in its first Super Bowl.

When the 1994 San Diego Chargers earned a trip to Super Bowl XXIX in Miami, Florida, it marked the seventh time a Beathard team has journeyed to the world championship. Four times his team has produced a Super Bowl victory.

Beathard's seven trips to the Super Bowl are the most in NFL history for a general manager and talent evaluator. The 1966 Kansas City Chiefs ... the 1972 and '73 Miami Dolphins ... the 1982, '83 and '87 Washington Redskins ... and the 1994 San Diego Chargers were all products of Beathard's handiwork. Though success has followed him through every step of his NFL career, Beathard remains one of the League's most low-key and well-liked personalities.

With a proven plan to follow, he immediately set out in 1990 to bring top athletes with a winning attitude to San Diego. Acting with the same vitality and decisiveness that highlights his 35 years as an NFL talent evaluator, his judgement was on the mark in 1990 when seven players from his first draft in San Diego ended up in the starting lineup, including perennial Pro Bowler Junior Seau. Beathard made more strong moves in 1991 which allowed him to draft 14 players, including 12 who completed their rookie season with the Chargers. Eleven of his 13 selections in 1992 finished the season with the team, and all nine of the team's 1993 draftees returned in 1994. Five of the nine choices from 1994 and 11 of the 13 picks from 1995 were still with the team in 1996. Seven of the team's eight 1996 draft picks saw game action last year, and all eight are on the team's roster heading into 1997.

Leveraging tomorrow to help today also is a Beathard trademark. Since coming to San Diego in 1990, he has traded a future number-one draft choice to make a selection that year four times in eight drafts and he has struck gold each time. In 1991, Beathard traded San Diego's 1992 first-round choice to Washington for the forty-seventh pick in the '91 draft and selected starting guard Eric Moten. In 1993, he traded the team's first-round pick in 1994 along with a second-round choice in '93 to San Francisco for the 49ers' second, third, fourth and fifth-round choices and selected running back Natrone Means with the forty-first choice. In 1995 he traded the Chargers' first-round pick to Detroit and selected running back Terrell Fletcher with the fifty-first choice in the draft. In 1996, he sent the Chargers' 1997 first-round choice to Tampa Bay for the right to draft explosive wide receiver Bryan Still with the forty-first choice.

In 1997, Beathard was unable to move up in the draft but was able to increase the Chargers' number of selections from six to eight. The team's top choice, tight end Freddie Jones from North Carolina, is poised to make an immediate impact as a receiver and blocker in his first NFL season.

Beathard has demonstrated a keen eye for talent since becoming a part-time scout with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1963. He left the Chiefs briefly to scout for the American Football League and returned to Kansas City full-time after the AFL-NFL merger in 1966. He earned his first championship ring as a member of the 1966 Chiefs' organization. Beathard then served as a scout for the Falcons, 1968-71.

In 1972, Beathard was named director of player personnel for the Miami Dolphins. The Dolphins won the following two Super Bowls. Then on February 24, 1978, the Redskins made Bobby their general manager and he ultimately showed the league that first-round draft picks were weapons to be used in trades. In his 11 years at Washington, the Redskins had only three first-round picks. They went to the Super Bowl three times and won twice.

Beathard's handiwork was apparent on all three Super Bowl teams, including the World Champion Redskins of 1982 whose roster included an astounding 27 free agents signed by Beathard since he joined the team in 1978. The 1983 squad, which finished 14-2, also made it to the Super Bowl. The Super Bowl XXII team defeated Denver, 42-10, in San Diego.

Beathard left the Redskins to serve as a commentator for the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) on it's weekly "NFL '89" show during the 1989 season.

When Beathard joined the Chargers, he returned to the Southern California lifestyle in which he was raised. Born in Zanesville, Ohio, January 24, 1937, Robert Beathard, Jr., grew up in the Los Angeles area and attended El Segundo High. He moved on to Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo where he played quarterback, 1956-58, and led the 1957 and '58 teams to consecutive 9-1 records.

Bobby and his wife, Christine, reside in Leucadia, California. Beathard is an avid runner, surfer and cyclist. He has run in dozens of marathons, including several Boston Marathons. The Beathards have four children: sons Kurt (Jan. 4, 1963), currently the offensive coordinator at Western Carolina; Jeff (June 9, 1964), a twelfth-round choice of the Rams in 1988 who is a scout for the Chargers; and Casey (Dec. 2, 1965), a songwriter and singer in Nashville, Tennessee, who also scouts part-time for the Chargers; and daughter Jaime (Sept. 25, 1968). Bobby and Christine have eight grandchildren.

KEVIN GILBRIDE

Head Coach

9th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

The San Diego Chargers tapped into one of the NFL's most dynamic coaching minds when General Manager Bobby Beathard named former Jacksonville Jaguars Offensive Coordinator Kevin Gilbride as the tenth head coach in Chargers' history on January 19, 1997.

"We are very excited to name Kevin Gilbride our head coach," said Beathard. "He's an exciting and innovative coach who has been on the cutting edge of offensive football in the National Football League."

"The search around the league just emphasized our original thoughts that Kevin is a well-respected and rising talent in this league."

"I thought the best move I could make was to go with the Chargers' organization," said Gilbride. "The success they've had...the ability of Bobby Beathard...the support of the Spanos family. For me, San Diego was the perfect fit."

"I felt the strength of the organization was most important. I felt most comfortable here. What these people have done in the past — going to the Super Bowl only a few years ago — their track record speaks for itself."

"I'm really excited about the process of building back a football team that will be in the playoffs again and one the San Diego community can be proud of."

The 45-year-old Gilbride is a veteran of 23 years in coaching, including eight seasons in the NFL. He joined the Chargers after spending the past two seasons as the offensive coordinator of the Jacksonville Jaguars. Under Gilbride's direction, the Jaguars had the top-ranked passing offense in the NFL in 1996 when they averaged 259.7 yards passing per game. Jacksonville also ranked second overall in the league in total offense by averaging 360.2 yards per game in 1996.

"Kevin is an outstanding football coach," said Jaguars' head coach Tom Coughlin. "His vast experience and great instincts make him a very poised game-day coach. Kevin is a very effective leader. The players will respond to Kevin, and the San Diego Chargers will be successful under him."

Jacksonville's potent offense was one of the reasons the Jaguars advanced to the 1996 AFC Championship Game in just their second year in existence. Jacksonville upset the Buffalo Bills and the Denver Broncos by identical scores, 30-27, before falling to the New England Patriots, 20-6, in the AFC Championship Game.

In addition to his duties as offensive coordinator, Gilbride also tutored the Jaguars' quarterbacks and had a major impact in the development of quarterback Mark Brunell. Brunell led the NFL with 4,145 yards passing in 1996 and also led all NFL quarterbacks in rushing with 396 yards. In his first season with the team in 1995, Gilbride helped develop Brunell from an inexperienced quarterback who had played in just two previous NFL games into the top-ranked passer ever for an expansion team. In 1995, the Jaguars' offense scored an average of 17.2 points per game, second highest ever among previous expansion teams.

Prior to joining Jacksonville, Gilbride was the assistant head coach/offense for the Houston Oilers in 1994 after serving four seasons (1990-93) as the Oilers' offensive coordinator. Under Gilbride, the Oilers' offense ranked first in the NFL in passing yards from 1990 through 1992 and was third in 1993. For four consecutive seasons (1990-93), the Oilers ranked among the NFL's top three teams in total offense (including No. 1 in 1990), and entering the 1994 campaign, the Oilers had scored more points over a four-year span than 26 of the other 27 NFL teams. During that same span, the Oilers also ranked among the NFL's top five teams in third-down efficiency and first downs. Gilbride joined the Oilers as quarterbacks coach in 1989.

Even though he is known primarily as an offensive coach, Gilbride has extensive experience as a defensive coach as well. This balance between offensive and defensive coaching experience has given Gilbride a clear idea of how he wants the 1997 San Diego Chargers to play.

"Our offensive philosophy is an easy one: do whatever it takes to move the football," said Gilbride. "The difficulty comes in determining what method will best achieve that goal. As a general rule of thumb, the starting point always has to be the ability to both run and throw the football. Not everyone strives to do that equally as well. But we will have a balanced, systematic style that will use a lot of different formations, a lot of different personnel groups. We'll try to intelligently attack defenses within the framework of our offensive system."

Gilbride is equally clear about his defensive philosophy.

"We're going to be a diversified, aggressive defense that will employ a lot of different fronts and coverages," said Gilbride. "Our defense will have the flexibility necessary to defend the many different and varied offensive attacks that we'll be confronted with this season. We'll also have the ability to keep offenses off-balance through pressure packages designed to keep them off the field and from having a lot of time-consuming drives."

A former quarterback and tight end for Southern Connecticut State, Gilbride began his coaching career in 1974 at Idaho State. He also had stops as linebackers coach at Tufts University (1976-77) and defensive coordinator at American International College (1978-79), before gaining his first head coaching job at Southern Connecticut

State (1980-84). While at SCSU, Gilbride posted a 35-14-2 record and was named New England Coach of the Year and NCAA Division II Coach of the Year by various groups, including the ECAC Officials, the Walter Camp Foundation and the New Haven Gridiron Club. He coached a couple of former NFL players at SCSU — DT Scott Mersereau (Jets) and TE Travis Tucker (Browns).

In 1985 and 1986 Gilbride was with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League, the first season as quarterbacks/receivers coach before being elevated to offensive coordinator in 1986. He then returned to the college ranks at East Carolina as passing game coordinator in 1987 and offensive coordinator in 1988 prior to joining the Houston Oilers.

"I certainly think my time in the Canadian Football League influenced my offensive thinking," said Gilbride. "That's where a lot of the principles of our passing game came from. The impact of the wide-open approach to throwing the football and moving the football; the use of many different formations was sharpened and enhanced through my time in the CFL."

Gilbride credits many coaches throughout his career for having a great impact on his career and coaching philosophy, including three NFL head coaches he tutored under.

"All of the coaches I've been around have contributed to my coaching philosophy," Gilbride said. "Jerry Glanville had a great feel for players — when to back off, when to push. He had a great sense of timing in dealing with the team in order to maintain a high intensity level. He had a good sense of the players emotionally."

"Jack Pardee gave me great insight into consistency — the importance of a head coach to maintain a consistent demeanor. Consistency is important to maintain trust and a level of dependability."

"Tom Coughlin reinforced the need to be committed completely to the profession and the job so that the details are attended to. His discipline and structure certainly have influenced the way I will go about things from an organizational point of view."

But the person who had the most profound effect in Gilbride's life was his father.

"The single most influential person in my life definitely was my father," said the head coach. "My father was a high school math teacher and coach, and I saw the pleasure and joy he received and the impact he had on young lives. That motivated me to get into this profession because I wanted to have an impact in a positive way on young people."

"The values that he instilled in me about life in general have stuck with me — perseverance, work ethic, willingness to sacrifice personally in order to achieve your goals. Those were the things that he cherished and had the greatest impact on me."

Gilbride was born August 27, 1951, in New Haven, Connecticut. The oldest of seven children, including three brothers and three sisters, Kevin was a three-sport star at North Haven High School in North Haven, Connecticut. He played quarterback, forward on the basketball team and pitched for the baseball team. He suffered a knee injury in his senior football season, which later turned out to be a torn anterior cruciate ligament, and never had surgery, dimming a bright athletic future. Gilbride played one football season at the United States Merchant Marines Academy in Long Island, New York. He later enrolled at Southern Connecticut State University and played three seasons as a tight end. He graduated from SCSU with a degree in physical education and received his masters' degree in sports administration from Idaho State.

While serving as the offensive coordinator of the Oilers in 1992, a routine physical revealed his greatest fear. Oiler offensive lineman Doug Dawson pushed the busy coach to get a long-overdue physical so he could sell Gilbride a life insurance policy. Following the physical on Tuesday, Dec. 1, Gilbride "just knew something was up." On Tuesday, Dec. 8, he underwent surgery to remove a tumor the size of a grapefruit along with his right kidney.

"It was a heck of a wake-up call," said Gilbride, who's father died at age 45 when Kevin was 18. "What that experience did was reinforce what I always felt. You better not waste time, and whatever is important to you, you better go for it with as much gusto as you have. Don't think you have forever. Whatever you think is important, you better get it done."

Since his surgery, Gilbride has been very active in working with organizations such as the American Cancer Society and cancer treatment and research organizations. Since coming to San Diego, Gilbride also has joined the March of Dimes' fight against children's birth defects and become the honorary chairman of the organization's annual golf tournament.

Kevin and his wife, Deborah, have two daughters, Kelly (Sept. 11, 1975) and Kristen (June 19, 1977), and a son, Kevin (Dec. 14, 1979). Kelly is a senior psychology major and rugby player at Harvard University. Kristen is a junior education major at the University of Connecticut. Kevin is a three-sport standout senior at Bishop Kenny High in Jacksonville where he is the starting quarterback, a guard/forward on the basketball team and pitcher/first baseman on the baseball team.

The Gilbrides reside in Alpine, California, about 20 miles east of San Diego.

ASSISTANT COACHES

NICK NICOLAU

Assistant Head Coach

18th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named Nick Nicolau the team's assistant head coach on February 5, 1997.

"I had the good fortune of working with Nick at Jacksonville the last two years and grew to admire and appreciate the expertise he possesses," said Gilbride. "We were fortunate to hire him and he will be a tremendous asset to our team."

Nicolau, a veteran of 17 years of coaching in the National Football League, spent the past two seasons (1995-96) on the Jacksonville Jaguars' staff with Gilbride as the tight ends coach. Prior to that, Nicolau spent three years (1992-94) as the offensive coordinator for the Indianapolis Colts.

Nicolau, 64, began his NFL coaching career in 1980 as running backs coach for the New Orleans Saints. He joined the Denver Broncos' staff as a special assistant in 1981 before tutoring the team's running backs for six seasons (1982-87). During Nicolau's tenure in Denver, the Broncos played in Super Bowls XXI and XXII.

In 1988, Nicolau served as the wide receivers coach for the Los Angeles Raiders before joining the Buffalo Bills in 1989. He spent three seasons (1989-91) with the Bills as receivers coach and was with the team during Super Bowls XXV and XXVI.

Nicolau's 38-year coaching career also includes two years at the high school level, three years in the Canadian Football League and 17 years at the collegiate level, with stops at Southern Connecticut State (1960), Springfield College (1961), the University of Bridgeport (1962-69, including as head coach from 1965-69), Massachusetts (1970), Connecticut (1971-72), Kentucky (1973-75) and Kent State (1976).

In 1977, Nicolau coached with the Canadian Football League's Hamilton Tiger-Cats before spending two seasons (1978-79) as the director of player personnel/running backs coach for the Montreal Alouettes. Montreal made Grey Cup appearances both seasons that Nicolau was on the staff.

Nick Nicolau was born May 5, 1933, in the Bronx, New York, and attended New Bedford, High School in New Bedford, Massachusetts. He was a running back at Southern Connecticut from 1951-53 and in 1956. He earned a master's degree from Indiana University and a doctorate from Springfield College.

Nick and his wife, Eleanor, have six children — Tracey (June 6, 1958), Duane (Jan. 1, 1960), Shari (April 19, 1961), Vickie (Aug. 7, 1962), Wendy (Sept. 15, 1965) and Randy (Aug. 29, 1970).

JOE PASCALE

Defensive Coordinator

12th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Joe Pascale became the Chargers' new defensive coordinator on January 27, 1997. He is a veteran of 30 years in coaching, including 11 in the National Football League, two in the United States Football League, four in the Canadian Football League and 13 years in the collegiate ranks. During his coaching career Pascale has coached every position on defense and has been a defensive coordinator in the NFL, CFL and on the collegiate level.

"I've known Joe for 23 years and from the first moment I worked with him, I was impressed with his intellect, work habits and character," said Head Coach Kevin Gilbride upon Pascale's hiring. "I'm looking forward to him spearheading our defense."

Pascale spent the past three seasons (1994-96) as the linebackers coach of the Cincinnati Bengals. Last season the Bengals' defense led the NFL in takeaways with 44, including 34 interceptions and 10 fumble recoveries. Cincinnati's 34 interceptions also led the league in 1996.

Before joining the Bengals, Pascale spent eight seasons (1986-93) on the defensive staff of the Phoenix Cardinals.

During his NFL coaching career, Pascale has worked with several outstanding linebackers, including Ken Harvey, Freddie Joe Nunn, Eric Hill, E.J. Junior, James Francis and Steve Tovar.

Before his stint with the Cardinals, Pascale coached two seasons (1984-85) for the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League. Pascale spent four seasons coaching in the Canadian Football League, including two each with the Ottawa Rough Riders (1982-83) and Montreal Alouettes (1980-81). In each of his six seasons in the USFL and CFL, Pascale's teams made playoff appearances.

Pascale's coaching career began as an assistant coach at the University of Connecticut (1967-69). He then spent four seasons (1970-73) as an assistant at Rhode Island before working as an assistant at Idaho State for two seasons (1974-75). He spent the 1976 season as head coach at Idaho State. He spent his last three seasons (1977-79) in the collegiate ranks as an assistant coach at Princeton.

Pascale played linebacker, nose tackle and offensive guard at the University of Connecticut for four seasons (1963-66). He also played defense on the school's lacrosse team. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees in education from Connecticut, and also completed an advanced graduate curriculum in education administration at Connecticut.

Joseph Vincent Pascale was born April 17, 1946, in New York City. He played football for Lakeland High School in Peekskill, New York. Joe and his wife, Lucille, have a son, Joseph (March 22, 1977).

MIKE SHEPPARD

Offensive Coordinator

5th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Head Coach Kevin Gilbride completed his coaching staff by naming former Baltimore Ravens' wide receivers coach Mike Sheppard the Chargers' new offensive coordinator on February 26, 1997. In addition to tutoring the team's quarterbacks, Sheppard will assist Gilbride and Assistant Head Coach Nick Nicolau in teaching and implementing San Diego's innovative offensive system.

"Mike did a great job at Baltimore last year," said Gilbride. "I thought their offense was as good as any I saw. I was glad we were able to get him."

In addition to coaching Baltimore's wide receivers last year, Sheppard handled the Ravens' play calling when they had the NFL's third-ranked offense (357.7 yards per game) and second-ranked passing game (248.6 yards per game). The only passing offense to finish higher than Baltimore's was Jacksonville's (256.9 yards per game), which was led by Gilbride.

Sheppard, a coaching veteran of 23 years — including eight seasons as a head coach on the collegiate level — spent the previous four seasons with Baltimore and the Cleveland Browns. He originally joined the Browns as the team's tight ends coach in 1993 before spending the past three seasons (1994-96) coaching wide receivers.

Before joining the Browns, Sheppard was offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at California for one season (1992). He spent five years (1987-91) as head coach at the University of New Mexico. Sheppard also was the head coach at Long Beach State for three years (1984-86).

Sheppard's other coaching experience includes stops at Kansas (offensive coordinator and quarterbacks, 1983), Long Beach State (quarterbacks, 1982), Idaho State (quarterbacks and receivers, 1980-81), United States International University (offensive coordinator and quarterbacks, 1979), Brigham Young (graduate assistant/offense, 1977-78) and Cal Lutheran (receivers, 1974-76).

A 1973 graduate with a bachelor's degree in business from Cal Lutheran, Sheppard was a two-sport standout who earned all-district honors in both football and baseball as a junior and senior. He was chosen most valuable lineman in the 1971 NAIA national championship game and won all-America honors in 1972. He was named the baseball team's most valuable player in his senior season and played professional baseball for one summer with the Portland Mavericks (1973).

Born October 29, 1951, in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Sheppard earned a California teaching credential in 1975 and a master's degree in physical education from Brigham Young in 1982. He attended John Burroughs High School in Burbank, California. Sheppard and his wife, Cathie, have four children — Chrissi (April 2, 1979), Brian (Jan. 14, 1983), Shelby (Aug. 5, 1988) and Macall (May 23, 1991).

GEORGE DeLEONE

Offensive Line

1st NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

DeLeone took over his first NFL coaching assignment when Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named him the Chargers' offensive line coach on January 30, 1997. After spending 27 years on the collegiate level, DeLeone's extensive experience will help him develop a very talented, young Chargers' offensive line.

"I've known George since he coached me in college, and I've always felt that he is one of the brightest, most knowledgeable people in football," said Gilbride. "I really feel that he will not only be an outstanding teacher and technician for the offensive line, but also an invaluable contributor to the game plan as well."

With the exception of 12-year veteran Raleigh McKenzie, San Diego's offensive line features several players with limited NFL experience. Joe Cocozzo is entering his fifth season, and Isaac Davis, Greg Engel and Vaughn Parker are each heading into their fourth year. The remaining linemen on the roster each have less than three years of NFL experience.

DeLeone came to San Diego after spending the previous 12 seasons (1985-96) at Syracuse University. He spent the past 10 seasons (1987-96) as the team's offensive coordinator. Under DeLeone's direction in 1996, the Orangemen scored 30 or more points in their last 11 games, including a streak of four consecutive games in which they scored 40 or more points.

Prior to coaching at Syracuse, DeLeone served as the offensive coordinator at Holy Cross for one season (1984). He started his coaching career in 1970 at Southern Connecticut State as the offensive line coach before serving as the Fighting Owls' head coach for four seasons (1976-79). DeLeone moved up to the Division I level in 1980, coaching under Frank Burns at Rutgers from 1980-83.

Born May 9, 1948, in New Haven, Connecticut, DeLeone received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Connecticut in 1970 and his master's in education from Southern Connecticut State in 1971. George and his wife, Roberta, have two sons — Andy (July 25, 1982) and Mark (June 30, 1987) — and reside in San Diego.

TYRONE DIXON

Wide Receivers

1st NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

San Diego Chargers Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named Tyrone Dixon the team's wide receivers coach on February 14, 1997. Dixon joined the Chargers after spending the past three years (1994-96) as the wide receivers coach at the University of Houston. Just prior to joining the Chargers, Dixon had been given the additional duties of assistant head football coach at Houston.

Dixon's initial task in 1997 will be to teach Gilbride's innovative offensive system to veterans Tony Martin, Andre Coleman, newcomer Eric Metcalf and second-year wide receivers Bryan Still and Charlie Jones. He also will continue the development of Martin into one of the NFL's premier wide receivers. Martin earned his first trip to the Pro Bowl and was voted by his teammates the Chargers' Most Valuable Player and Offensive Player of the Year following last season.

Prior to his stint at Houston, Dixon was the wide receivers coach for one season each at James Madison (1993) and Temple (1992). He also was the wide receivers coach and special teams coordinator at Akron University for two seasons (1990-91).

Dixon gained valuable NFL coaching experience by spending three summers in the National Football League's Minority Coaching Fellowship program. In the summer of 1995, he coached with the New York Jets. He spent 1992 with the Chicago Bears and 1990 with the Cleveland Browns.

Dixon began his coaching career at his alma mater, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, as a graduate assistant coach in 1986-87. He was promoted to running backs coach in 1988. During his tenure, IUP made the NCAA Division II national playoffs three years, reaching the quarterfinals in 1987 and semifinals in 1989.

Dixon was a four-year letterman at strong safety for IUP, and as a senior, he was presented the Dan Thompson Award as the Indians' most inspirational player. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in communications media with a minor in theatre in 1986 and received his master's degree in sports management in 1987.

Dixon has applied his communications degree and theatre minor by writing a copyrighted movie script, creating television commercials, performing 11 roles in a one-act play, and appearing on a radio show on the Indiana University campus.

Tyrone Quentin Dixon was born October 22, 1964, in Aliquippa, Pennsylvania. He played football, volleyball and basketball at Center High School in Monaca, Pennsylvania. He has a daughter, Nicoya (Nov. 16, 1988). He and his wife, Noble, also have a daughter, Amera (Aug. 30, 1996), and reside in San Diego.

BILL MACDERMOTT

Tight Ends

1st NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named Bill Macdermott the Chargers tight ends coach on February 14, 1997. Macdermott brings 37 years of coaching experience — including 16 years as a head coach on the collegiate level — to the team's coaching staff. During his 37 years of coaching, Macdermott has experienced only four losing seasons.

Along with furthering the development of returning veterans Al Pupunu and Brian Roche, Macdermott will help mold the Chargers' 1997 top draft choice — tight end Freddie Jones from North Carolina.

Immediately prior to joining the Chargers, Macdermott (MAC-dur-mott) had a brief stint as the assistant head coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League. He also spent five seasons (1992-96) as the offensive line coach for the Edmonton Eskimos. While he was in Edmonton, the Eskimos won the Grey Cup once in 1993 and appeared in the CFL's championship game again in 1996. Before working in Edmonton, Macdermott was the offensive line coach for the Orlando Thunder of the World League of American Football for two seasons (1991-92). Macdermott was with the Thunder when they appeared in the 1992 World Bowl.

Macdermott had his initiation in the Canadian Football League when he helped the Montreal Alouettes during training camp in 1987. He was a guest coach at Edmonton's camp in 1989 and was the offensive line coach for Toronto in 1990 when the Argonauts set a still-unbroken Canadian Football League record for points in a season with 493. He was the assistant head coach and offensive line coach at California Poly - San Luis Obispo for three years (1987-89) before joining Toronto's staff in 1990.

Macdermott was the head coach at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Connecticut, for 16 years (1971-86). His career record as a head coach was 66-59-3 (.527). Macdermott originally joined the Wesleyan staff in 1966 as offensive and defensive line coach, a position he held for two seasons (1966-67) before becoming the offensive coordinator for three years (1968-70). In 1969, he engineered an offense which averaged 21 points per game and carried the Cardinals to an 8-0 mark and a share of the Lambert Cup as the top small college team in the East. Macdermott also headed the Wesleyan wrestling program from 1966-70.

Prior to his stint at Wesleyan, Macdermott served as assistant football coach and head wrestling coach at Hopkins High School in New Haven, Connecticut, for five years (1961-65).

William Hough Macdermott was born May 14, 1936, in Providence, Rhode Island. He played football, wrestling and baseball at St. George's High School in Middletown, Rhode Island. He went on to play football at Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut. He graduated with a degree in physical education and history from Trinity in 1960.

Bill and his wife, Kathleen, have three daughters — Alexandra (Aug. 7, 1980), Tiffany (June 5, 1981) and Stephanie (Feb. 13, 1990).

FRANK NOVAK

Special Teams

9th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Frank Novak became the Chargers' special teams coach on January 30, 1997, after spending the previous two years (1995-96) as the special teams coach for the Detroit Lions.

"I have always been impressed by Frank's enthusiasm and excitement for the game," said Head Coach Kevin Gilbride. "Players really respond well to him. I think he'll do an outstanding job of getting our players to play with the enthusiasm that's necessary to be good on special teams."

Under Novak's direction in 1996, Glyn Milburn ranked fourth in the NFC with an average of 25.4 yards per kickoff return while returning the second-most kickoffs in the conference (64). In Novak's first season in Detroit, the Lions' kickoff coverage unit finished third in the NFL in average starting field position.

Novak tutored the running backs for the Houston Oilers for five seasons (1989-93). During his tenure as Houston's running backs coach the Oilers had a stable of top-flight NFL backs, including former Heisman Trophy winner Mike Rozier (1,002 yards in 1988), Alonzo Highsmith, Allen Pinkett, Lorenzo White (1,226 yards in 1992) and current Chargers' running back Gary Brown (1,002 yards in 1993). Novak also coached the Oilers' special teams for one season (1994). His speciality units limited opponents to a league-low 17.3 yards per kickoff return in 1994.

Novak, 58, joined the Oilers following one year (1988) as the running backs coach at the University of Missouri. He was the quarterbacks coach at the University of Massachusetts in 1986. Prior to coaching at Massachusetts, Novak was the receivers coach for the Birmingham Stallions of the United States Football League for one season (1985). He had been named the Stallions' offensive coordinator in 1986 before the team folded. Novak was the running backs coach for the USFL's Oklahoma Outlaws in 1984.

Prior to his stint in the USFL, Novak coached at Holy Cross for six seasons (1978-83). He coached the Crusaders' offensive backs for four years (1978-81) before being promoted to offensive coordinator. He was the offensive coordinator at Western Illinois for two seasons (1976-77). Novak spent two years at the University of Virginia, coaching the quarterbacks in 1974 and the offensive backs in 1975. In 1973, he was the offensive coordinator at East Carolina. That season, the Pirates won the Southern Conference Championship.

Novak started his college coaching career at his alma mater, Northern Michigan University, in 1966. He spent five years (1966-70) as the offensive backs/receivers coach before serving as offensive coordinator for two years (1971-72). Novak coached on the high school level in New London, Connecticut, and Iron Mountain, Michigan, prior to his tenure at Northern Michigan.

Frank Leonard Novak was born May 18, 1939, in Leominster, Massachusetts, and was a starter on the football, basketball and baseball teams at Leominster High School. He was an Associated Press honorable mention quarterback at Northern Michigan, where he earned bachelor's and master's degrees in English and a certificate as a secondary reading specialist.

Frank and his wife, Ellen, have one son, Jason (Nov. 12, 1974). Frank also has four children, including son, Frank, Jr. (June 2, 1961), and daughters Kimberly (May 23, 1962), Tracy (May 30, 1963) and Linda (Oct. 5, 1965).

WAYNE NUNNELY

Defensive Line

3rd NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

San Diego Chargers' Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named Wayne Nunnely the team's defensive line coach on February 5, 1997.

Nunnely spent the past two seasons (1995-96) in the same capacity with the New Orleans Saints. He first worked for the Saints in their training camp in 1994 when he served on the staff as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program.

"Wayne is tremendously organized and has great knowledge of the defensive line," said Gilbride. "He will be a good teacher for our defensive linemen and I expect to see improved play from that group due to Wayne's presence."

Prior to joining New Orleans full-time, Nunnely spent nearly 20 years as an assistant coach, head coach and administrator on the collegiate level. Most recently, he spent two seasons (1993-94) as the defensive line coach at UCLA and two seasons (1991-92) as the running backs coach at Southern California.

Nunnely's first job as a coach was at Valley High School in Las Vegas, Nevada, in 1975. He began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, in 1976. His initial full-time job came at California Poly-Pomona, where he coached the running backs in 1977 and the defensive line in 1978. He moved to Cal State Fullerton for one season (1979) where he coached the defensive line. He also coached two seasons at the University of the Pacific (1980-81).

Nunnely returned to UNLV in 1982 and worked as an assistant through 1985 before serving as the school's head coach for four seasons (1986-89). At the time of his appointment in 1986, he was only the fifth African-American head coach at the Division 1-A level. In 1990, he served in administration at UNLV as the Director of Minority Student Affairs. He also was selected by the school's faculty as Most Outstanding Male Physical Educator.

Nunnely played fullback and also lettered in track at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas for two seasons (1972-73), where he earned a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

Wayne Benjamin Nunnely was born March 29, 1952, in Los Angeles, California. He played football, basketball and track for Monrovia High School in Monrovia, California. He and his wife, Velda, have two sons, Channing (July 10, 1973) and Aaron (Oct. 27, 1986), and a daughter, Amber (July 30, 1983).

ROD PERRY

Defensive Backs

10th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named former Houston Oilers' Defensive Backs Coach Rod Perry to the same position with the Chargers on January 27, 1997.

"Rod is a former player who was an outstanding technician and student of the game as a player," said Gilbride. "He has continued to expand his knowledge of the game since he's been coaching and will do an outstanding job of imparting that knowledge to our secondary."

Perry, 44, has nine years of NFL coaching experience. He spent the 1995-96 seasons as the Oilers' defensive backs coach, where under Perry's direction, cornerback Darryll Lewis and safety Blaine Bishop made their first trips to the Pro Bowl.

Prior to joining the Oilers, Perry spent three seasons (1992-94) as the secondary coach of the Los Angeles Rams. He also served three seasons (1989-91) as the secondary coach with Seattle where he coached current Chargers' cornerback Dwayne Harper.

Perry joined Seattle after coaching four years at the collegiate level, including two years at Fresno State (1987-88) and one year each at Fresno City College (1986) and Columbia University (1985).

As a player, Perry was an All-Big Eight selection as a senior defensive back at the University of Colorado. He was selected by the Los Angeles Rams in the fourth round of the 1975 NFL Draft. He twice earned Pro Bowl honors (1978, 1980) and finished his eight-year stint (1975-82) with the Rams with 28 interceptions. He is a member of the Rams' 40th Anniversary All-Time Team. Perry concluded his professional playing career with the Cleveland Browns (1983-84).

Rodney Perry was born September 11, 1953, in Fresno, California. He lettered in football, basketball and track at Hoover High in Fresno, California. Rod and his wife, Patrice, have three children — sons, Rodney (Feb. 1, 1979) and Ryan (Oct. 23, 1985), and daughter, Miranda (Oct. 26, 1994). Rodney was the California High School Football Player of the Year in 1996 and will be attending the University of Southern California on a football and baseball scholarship.

JIM VECHIARELLA

Linebackers

17th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Jim Vechiarella was hired by Head Coach Kevin Gilbride to be the team's linebackers coach on February 1, 1997. Vechiarella is a veteran of 33 years of coaching, including

16 years (1981-96) in the National Football League. He joins the Chargers after spending the past two seasons (1995-96) as the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach of the New York Jets.

"Jim is a guy I've respected for a number of years when I was going up against him and his defenses," said Gilbride. "The greatest compliment I can pay him is that he gave our offenses so many problems that he was one of the first guys I wanted to hire. I'm glad to have him on our side for a change."

Before his stint with the Jets, Vechiarella was the linebackers coach for the Philadelphia Eagles for four seasons (1991-94).

In 1990, Vechiarella was the defensive coordinator for the Cleveland Browns under then-head coach Bud Carson. Prior to working for the Browns, Vechiarella spent four seasons (1986-89) as the linebackers coach for the New York Jets. He was the linebackers coach at Kansas City for three seasons (1983-85) after beginning his NFL coaching career with the Los Angeles Rams (1981-82).

Vechiarella's 16-year collegiate coaching career started when he was the defensive coordinator at Youngstown State for 11 seasons (1964-74). He spent one season (1975) as the defensive line coach for the World Football League's Charlotte franchise before returning to the collegiate ranks as the defensive coordinator at Southern Illinois for two seasons (1976-77) and Tulane for three seasons (1978-80).

James Anthony Vechiarella was born February 20, 1937, in Youngstown, Ohio, and played linebacker and center at Youngstown State University. He attended Rayen High School in Youngstown where he played football and was on the track team. He and his wife, Lucille, have two sons, Jim (March 20, 1961) and Bill (June 14, 1963), and one daughter, Lisa (Nov. 16, 1965).

OLLIE WILSON

Running Backs

7th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named former Atlanta Falcons Running Backs Coach Ollie Wilson to the same position with the Chargers on January 27, 1997.

"I've known Ollie since his days at Springfield College and on the professional level since he started with the Oilers as an intern," said Gilbride. "I've always been impressed with his ability to relate and motivate players and his knowledge of the game. I feel confident that he'll be an important part of our offensive efforts."

Wilson, 46, joined the Chargers after spending the previous six seasons (1991-96) as Atlanta's running backs coach. Under Wilson's direction, three Falcons' running backs rushed for 1,000 yards or more, including Jamal Anderson (1,055 in 1996), Craig Heyward (1,083 in 1995) and Erric Pegram (1,185 in 1993). In 1995, Heyward became the first Falcons' running back to be voted to the Pro Bowl since 1988.

Wilson began his stint with the Falcons in 1990 while working as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program in a position similar to the one he had held with the Houston Oilers in 1990.

Wilson spent eight seasons (1983-90) coaching several different positions at the University of California-Berkeley, including running backs, wide receivers and defensive backs. Prior to his stint at California, Wilson was the offensive coordinator at Northeastern University for eight seasons (1976-82). His first coaching job was as the wide receivers coach at his alma mater, Springfield College, in 1975.

Ollie Wilson was born March 3, 1951, in Worcester, Massachusetts, and played football, basketball, baseball and ran track at Doherty High School in Worcester.

Wilson was an honorable mention All-America wide receiver at Springfield College. He earned his degree in physical education from Springfield in 1973 and his master's in 1975. He also has been heavily involved in the Black Coaches Association.

Ollie and his wife, Nadine, reside in San Diego.

Born July 13, 1965, in Hempstead, New York, Abramson graduated from John F. Kennedy High School in Bellmore, New York, in 1983. She earned a bachelor's degree in retail marketing from Syracuse University in 1987. She is single and resides in La Jolla.

RICH ISRAEL

Director of Marketing

19th Season with Chargers

Israel joined the Chargers in 1979 as director of advertising and promotions before becoming the director of marketing in 1984. He is responsible for the marketing of season and group tickets, advertising and promotions. He also manages the Chargers' broadcasting, including preseason television, weekly shows and Spanish television and radio.

Richard Vance Israel was born March 12, 1956, in Palo Alto, California, and attended Palo Alto High. Israel received a degree in marketing from San Diego State. He served as promotions manager for the San Diego Friars of World Team Tennis from 1977-78. Rich and his wife, Marilou, reside in the Scripps Ranch district of San Diego with their three sons — Jason (Sept. 7, 1981), Kevin (Jan. 4, 1984) and Travis (Nov. 11, 1987).

JOHN HINEK

Business Manager

23rd Season with Chargers

Hinek was named the Chargers' business manager March 6, 1995, after spending the previous five years, 1990-94, as the team's director of college scouting.

In his role as business manager, Hinek coordinates the team's travel. He will be the team's facilities coordinator after expected completion of the new practice complex in 1997. He also serves as the Chargers' training camp coordinator, a role he has held since 1978. Hinek continues to aid the team's scouting efforts.

He joined the Chargers in 1973 as a ball boy. John's father, Frank, was equipment manager of the Oakland Raiders, 1960-62, and brother, Bronco, is the San Francisco 49ers' equipment manager.

John Hinek was born April 21, 1955, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He grew up in Alameda, California. He attended San Diego State University and graduated with honors in physical education.

John married the former Barbara DeBarrows of Point Loma and they reside in the Scripps Ranch area of San Diego with their daughters, Camille (June 26, 1990) and Jacquelyn (June 9, 1994).

BILL JOHNSTON

Director of Public Relations

19th Season with Chargers

Johnston oversees the team's media relations, community relations, public affairs, publications and charitable endeavors. He is in his eighth year as the Chargers' director of public relations. He held the position of director of community relations for two years, 1988-89.

Johnston joined the Chargers in March, 1979, as an intern while attending San Diego State University. He earned a degree in journalism in 1981 and was named public relations assistant that year. He served as assistant director of public relations, 1984-87.

William Francis Johnston was born Dec. 9, 1957, in La Mesa, California, and attended Helix High School. He is on the board of directors of Make-A-Wish, San Diego. Bill and his wife, Ramona, reside in Jamul with their son Jared (May 22, 1985) and daughter Hayley (July 15, 1988).

RON TUCK
Director of Ticket Operations
4th Season with Chargers

Tuck became the Chargers' director of ticket operations in August, 1994. He spent the previous two years (1993-94) as the assistant ticket director of the San Diego Padres. He was the Padres' ticket office manager in 1992.

Prior to joining the Padres, Tuck was the ticket manager of the San Diego Sports Arena (1983-91).

Ronald Leo Tuck was born Dec. 14, 1956, in San Diego, California. He attended Grossmont High School, where he played baseball and basketball for the Foothillers. He graduated in 1981 from Loyola-Marymount with a degree in television production. Ron is married to the former Betty Ann Tarantino of San Diego. The Tuck's have two children, daughter Courtney Ellen (May 31, 1989), and son Patrick Thomas (Nov. 10, 1991), and reside in Santee.

MARSHA WELLS
Controller
2nd Season with Chargers

Wells joined the Chargers on April 22, 1996, as controller after working 16 years for the A.G. Spanos organization. She joined the Spanos organization in 1980 in Las Vegas, Nevada, and relocated to the San Diego office in 1987 where she assumed the duties of chief financial officer — property management. She obtained three years (1976-79) of public accounting experience with the firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., in Decatur, Illinois.

Wells graduated with a degree in accountancy from Northern Illinois University in Dekalb, Illinois, in 1976 and is a Certified Public Accountant. She obtained a master's degree in business administration from the University of Nevada - Las Vegas, in 1982.

Marsha Winifred Downs was born January 2, 1954, in Beardstown, Illinois, and attended Rushville High School in Illinois. Wells is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. She is single and resides in Coronado.

CHARGERS IN THE COMMUNITY

San Diego Benefits from Spanos' Family Values

From the first moment Alex Spanos took over ownership of the San Diego Chargers, his desire to create a winning atmosphere in San Diego has spilled over into the community.

Without hesitation, Spanos devoted himself and his resources to improving the circumstances for countless charities and organizations throughout the county.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the city and the people who have been so supportive of me, my family and the Chargers over the years."

Eldest son Dean serves as President/Vice Chairman of the Chargers. He and his wife, Susie, and two sons, A.G. and John, live in La Jolla.

Since family is such an integral part of his own success, Alex finds it hard to say "no" to organizations dedicated to improving the lives of children.

He was chairman of San Diego Children's Hospital's first Miracle Network Telethon, has served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and was chairman of the Loaned Executive campaign during the annual United Way/CHAD drive in San Diego County. He has donated substantially to benefit critically ill youngsters at Children's Hospital and Health Center in San Diego. He also kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with a $100,000 pledge and challenge to the local community. His donation led to a successful effort to complete the first phase of the Southern California facility. Alex received the Chairman's Award for contributions to the city from the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce and the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau.

CHARGERS CHALLENGE

Thom Vollenweider

San Diego county youngsters are the benefactor in the annual Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation's "Chargers Challenge." The 10k run, 5k fun run and walk raise funds for the Pop Warner Associations of San Diego and North County. With training camp as the backdrop, "Chargers Challenge" takes runners and walkers around the UCSD campus, Torrey Pines cliffs and glider port. In its first year, the "Chargers Challenge" attracted 2,300 participants and raised $10,000 for local youngsters. Qualcomm is the title sponsor in 1997.

Since purchasing the team in 1984, the Spanos' have given more than $7 million to non-profit organizations throughout San Diego County. Here are just two of Spanos' many contributions in 1997; $1 million to the American Red Cross to benefit flood victims in Northern California and more than $100,000 to build sports fields in Pacific Beach.

Working to Make San Diego a Better Place to Live

Long before the Chargers' fantastic Super Bowl season, Alex Spanos' love for sports and San Diego have paid dividends for the City.

ALEX G. SPANOS
FOUNDATION
SAN DIEGO

His spirit of giving led to the creation of the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated for the benefit of San Diego County.

The Foundation's primary mission is to help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live. With the early success of the Foundation here in town, there are now plans to expand its focus to reach more people nationally. The Spanos family's national reach and contacts will be a huge benefit to the San Diego area as well.

The first project of the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation was a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million capital campaign fundraising effort of the San Diego Hall of Champions. The Hall of Champions documents the history of sports as a museum and tourist attraction and it provides programs for young people.

Spanos Classic Benefits High School Football

Thanks to the support of Chargers' owner Alex Spanos, San Diego County's premier senior football players get the opportunity annually to conclude their high school careers in the Spanos All-Star Football Classic.

The High School Sports Association of San Diego gathers the county's best senior players from the football season for a matchup between the North and South schools.

In addition to making the game possible through his contributions, Spanos also donates a $1,000 scholarship check in the names of the game's most valuable offensive and defensive players to each school's respective athletic departments.

Spanos has consistently been a strong supporter of San Diego high school football. He annually sponsors the California Interscholastic Federation (CIF) San Diego football championships which are played at Qualcomm Stadium.

Chargers Give, Give and Give Again

The Chargers' support of charitable organizations comes in many forms. A desire to help out as many as possible translates into the donation of money, tickets, luxury suites, training camp visits, road trips, autographed jerseys and footballs.

The Chargers contributed to hundreds of charities in 1996, including events and projects for the American Diabetes

Simultaneously, the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation donated to the Ronald McDonald House of Charities of San Diego, TERI, Inc., Volunteers of America, Skill Centers of America, March of Dimes, The Pro Kids Golf Academy, American Heart Association, Seau Foundation, San Diego Junior Golf, South Bay YMCA, the San Diego International Sports Foundation, Hall of Champions, Las Patronas and the Burn Institute to name just a few.

Players Motivate Students to Stay in School

In the offseason, the team's motivational school assembly program, "The Chargers Tackle the Issues," was in full swing during 1997.

Terrell Fletcher shows he's just as comfortable with a microphone in his hand, as he is with a football, at one of the "Chargers Tackle the Issues" assembly programs.

Players Andre Coleman, Tony Berti, Lew Bush, Isaac Davis, Reuben Davis, 'OMar Ellison, Terrell Fletcher, Dwayne Harper, Vaughn Parker and Don Sasa appeared at more than two dozen San Diego schools spreading an often emotional message to youngsters about the importance of a good education.

The assembly program is a collaboration between the San Diego Chargers, AT&T and KUSI TV to promote the value of education and to motivate students to make the right decisions in life. The highlight of this effort is the question and answer period at the end of each assembly, where students have a chance to talk directly to the players about personal situations and life choices. By the end of the school year, the assembly program is expected to reach more than 15,000 San Diego youth.

Junior's Achievements Never End

Sometimes a football team gets fortunate to have one player who truly exemplifies the spirit of community and charity. In 1992, Junior and Gina Seau created the Junior Seau Foundation. Their hope for the Foundation is to help kids face their life challenges with hope and dignity.

The Foundation is dedicated to educating and empowering young people through the support of child abuse prevention efforts, drug and alcohol awareness and anti-juvenile delinquency programs. Junior was recently selected as executive commissioner for the Greater San Diego Inner City Games.

Each fall, the Seau Foundation sponsors the "Sacks for San Diego" program where individuals and businesses pledge $1 to $100 for each sack by the Chargers' defense. The money supports a variety of anti-drug, anti-violence and anti-gang efforts, including a team in San Diego's midnight basketball league.

surgery to children who suffer from physical deformities.

His one-day event generates more than $50,000 annually for Fresh Start Surgical Gifts.

Stan Humphries tosses the football aside for some quality time on the green with his celebrity golf tournament at the Del Mar Country Club. His tournament annually raises more than $100,000 for the American Diabetes Association.

Chargers Alumni

After a successful run in the National Football League, many San Diego Chargers alumni find it hard saying goodbye to America's Finest City and choose San Diego for their permanent home. Every year the San Diego Chargers honor these former players at Alumni Day in the stadium.

Two former players—Hank Bauer (1977-82) and Jim Laslavic (1978-81)—turned their success in the community into careers in television.

The Chargers' annual Alumni Day is a good example of just how the team is intertwined in the community. More than 75 former athletes currently living in the San Diego area come out as the team honors its great players of the past.

However, a handful of alumni are already so involved in the community that in 1997 they became members of the newly-formed San Diego Chargers Ambassadors. Those players include Rolf Benirschke, Gill Byrd, Willie Buchanon and Don Macek. These goodwill ambassadors are available for community appearances and speaking engagements, providing a positive outreach for the Chargers. The Ambassadors help provide a link to our past while forging a path to our future.

NFL 101 for Women

Football is more than a man's game, with a record number of women both watching and playing America's favorite sport today. San Diego is no exception. Here, more than 1,000 women have turned out for two NFL 101 for Women classes, hosted by the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation and the San Diego Chargers.

The "training camp" for women—full of first downs, flea flickers and fashion—is an informative class about football for women, held at the Mission Valley Marriott twice a year.

The program is taught by Chargers players and coaches, as well as an official NFL referee. Proceeds from NFL 101 for Women benefit the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation in support of local charities. In 1996, more than $20,000 was raised to benefit the community of San Diego.

Defensive End

95

6-3, 280
Twelfth Year

North Carolina
UFA (Philadelphia) - '97

NFL: San Diego's defense received immediate help with addition of one of NFL's premier pass rushers when Fuller inked two-year contract on April 14, 1997...over past three seasons, Fuller has been most prolific pass rushing defensive end in National Football League with 35.5 sacks...over that span, Fuller is tied with Minnesota defensive tackle John Randle for second in NFL behind Carolina linebacker Kevin Greene (37.5 sacks)...Fuller's peers have honored him by voting him to three consecutive Pro Bowls (1994-96)...also earned Pro Bowl honors with Houston following stellar 1991 season when he had career-high 15 sacks...heading into 1997, Fuller has 94.5 career regular-season sacks and needs just 5.5 more to reach coveted 100-sack mark...Fuller brings 11 seasons of NFL experience to Chargers' defense...his regular-season career totals include 131 starts in 165 games, 505 tackles, 94.5 sacks, one interception, 50 passes defended, 18 forced fumbles, eight fumble recoveries, one safety and one touchdown on fumble return...also has recorded 63 quarterback hurries since 1994...has extensive postseason experience, having started 13 of 16 playoff games during his career...postseason career totals include 32 tackles, four sacks and four passes defended...Fuller spent past three seasons (1994-96) in Philadelphia after being signed as free agent from Houston where he spent first eight seasons (1986-93)...originally came to NFL in 1986 with Oilers after spending two season in United States Football League...acquired by Oilers in 1986 in trade from Los Angeles Rams along with Kent Hill, Rams' first-round draft choices in 1987 and 1988, and Los Angeles' fifth-round selection in 1987 in exchange for rights to quarterback Jim Everett. 1996: Started 16 of 16 regular-season games and one postseason contest for Philadelphia in 1996...earned third-consecutive trip to Pro Bowl following 1996 season...also marked Fuller's fourth-career Pro Bowl selection...finished season with 54 tackles, 13 sacks, 19 quarterback hurries, one pass defense, two forced fumbles and one fumble recovery...his 13 sacks in 1996 were most by any NFC defensive lineman and ranked him third overall in conference behind Carolina linebackers Kevin Greene (14.5) and Lamar Lathon (13.5)...also tied him for fourth in entire NFL behind Green, Lathon, and defensive end Bruce Smith (13.5)...ten of Fuller's 13 sacks came versus NFC East opponents...1996 marked third time in four seasons Fuller has notched double-digit sacks...named NFC defensive player for month of December after recording six sacks, 14 tackles and one fumble recovery while leading Eagles to 3-1 mark...opened season with 11-yard sack of Gus Frerotte at Washington Sept. 1 in Eagles' 17-14 win...put constant pressure on Falcons' quarterbacks Jeff George and Bobby Hebert, sacking each once, at Atlanta Sept. 22...notched fourth sack of season versus Cowboys' quarterback Troy Aikman Sept. 30, causing fumble which was recovered by Eagles...had two of Eagles' eight sacks versus New York Giants Oct. 13...left Game 9 at Dallas Nov. 3 after being poked in eye by Cowboys' tackle Erik Williams, but returned later in game with eye shield to make huge play...with :56 seconds remaining in fourth quarter, Fuller and Michael Zordich hurried Troy Aikman pass from Eagles' three-yard line which was intercepted by James Willis, who returned it 14 yards before pitching to Troy Vincent who ran 90 yards for game-clinching touchdown...tallied eighth and ninth sacks of season versus Giants Game 13 with one each of Dave Brown and Danny Kanell...had third-career game of three-or-more sacks in regular-season finale versus Arizona...started at left defensive end and recorded four solo tackles in NFC Wild Card game at San Francisco Dec. 29. 1995: Started 13 of 14 games played for Eagles in 1995...finished season with 53 tackles, 13 sacks, 13 quarterback hurries, four passes defended, five forced fumbles and one fumble recovery...earned second-consecutive trip to Pro Bowl after his 13 sacks tied him for NFC lead with Saints' defensive tackle Wayne Martin...his 13 sacks ranked second in NFL along with Martin and Oakland linebacker Pat Swilling (behind only 17.5 by Buffalo linebacker Bryce Paup)...helped Eagles post 48 sacks, tops in NFC and second in NFL only to Buffalo's 49 in 1995...Fuller recorded 3.5 sacks in first four games...sack of Raiders' quarterback Jeff Hostetler at Oakland Sept. 24 proved costly as Fuller pulled hamstring on play...subsequently missed second half of Oakland contest, all but one snap of next game, and was de-activated for consecutive games versus Washington and New York Giants...returned to lineup versus St. Louis, notching two sacks and two forced fumbles...his second sack of Chris Miller forced fumble that defensive tackle Kevin Johnson returned 37 yards for fourth-quarter touchdown...in Game 11, Fuller's fourth-quarter sack of Giants' quarterback Dave Brown caused fumble and knocked Brown out of game...made 5.5 sacks in Games 13-15, including two sacks at Seattle, 1.5 versus Dallas, and two versus Arizona...closed out season finale with sack of Troy Aikman on final snap which clinched 20-17 Eagles' win...registered fourth playoff sack of career versus Detroit Dec. 30. 1994: Signed by Eagles as veteran free agent March 31, 1994, from Houston...earned Pro Bowl honors after starting 16 of 16 games and making career-high 63 tackles...also had 9.5 sacks, 31 quarterback hurries, five passes defended, four forced fumbles and one fumble recovery...Fuller became 32nd player in history to represent each conference in Pro Bowl (his previous selection was to AFC squad in 1991 with Houston)...also named to United Press International's all-NFC second team...set Eagles' record for consecutive games with sack by recording at least one sack in each of first seven games...ranked eighth in NFC with 9.5 sacks...registered first-career safety when he sacked Steve Young in end zone at San Francisco Oct. 2. 1993: Started all 16 games for Houston Oilers in 1993...finished season with 37 tackles, 10 sacks, 10 passes defended and two forced fumbles...teamed with Oilers' defensive end Sean Jones to be only AFC teammates with double-digit sacks in 1993...had best outing of season in Game 11 at Pittsburgh where his career-high four sacks earned him AFC Defensive Player of Week honors. 1992: Started 14 of 15 games for Houston and notched 52 tackles, eight sacks, two passes defended, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery...missed season's first game and did not start second game due to holdout...had two sacks in triumph over Cincinnati Oct. 25...in Oilers' 24-21 Thanksgiving Day win at Detroit, Fuller scored his first NFL touchdown by returning quarterback Erik Kramer's fumble 10 yards...had two sacks of Jim Kelly in Oilers' 41-38 overtime playoff loss at Buffalo Jan. 3, 1993. 1991: Had best season of his career in 1991 when he started all 16 games at left defensive end, had career-high 15 sacks, 54 tackles, four passes defended, one forced fumble and two fumble recoveries...earned first selection to Pro Bowl following 1991 season...other honors included first team all-AFC from UPI, Pro Football Weekly and Football News...named by vote of NFLPA members as AFC's Defensive Lineman of Year...his 15 sacks led AFC and tied for second in NFL with Eagles' Reggie White and behind New Orleans' Pat Swilling...became first Oiler to ever lead AFC in sacks and his 15 sacks was second-highest total in team history behind Jesse Baker's 15.5 in 1979...earned him nickname "The Fuller Rush Man" from his teammates...had three multi-sack games and streak of six games with at least one-half sack...had best game of season in rout

Tenth Year

South Carolina State
UFA (Seattle) - '94

NFL: Chargers' defense should get huge lift due to return of Harper to top form in 1997...after being named Chargers' co-Most Valuable Player by his teammates in 1995 after collecting career-high 76 tackles and tying career mark with four interceptions, Harper suffered through torturous 1996 campaign due to nagging left hamstring injury which limited him to just six starts...Bolts thought enough of Harper to resign him to four-year contract on February 16, 1997...started every game over 1994-95 seasons for Chargers and led team both seasons in passes defended...after starting every game at right cornerback during first season in San Diego in 1994, Harper started all 16 games at left cornerback in 1995 to take pressure off rookie Terrance Shaw, who took over at right cornerback after Darrien Gordon was injured...because of his superior strength and extensive game experience, Harper also excels at covering inside receivers as Chargers' "slot" cornerback in nickel and dime situations...in nine NFL seasons, Harper has started 114 of 132 games played, made 516 tackles, intercepted 21 passes, forced four fumbles and recovered five more...has now started 116 of 131 possible games over past eight regular seasons...before joining Chargers, held starting left corner spot for Seattle, making 61 consecutive starts and playing in 93 consecutive games before being sidelined for Weeks 14 and 15 of 1993 season with minor knee injury...streak of 93 consecutive games equaled fourth-longest in Seahawks' history...originally joined San Diego as unrestricted free agent from Seattle March 3, 1994. 1996: Started six of six games played at left cornerback for Chargers...spent 10 games, including Games 4-5, 7-9, and 12-16, on team's inactive list due to nagging hamstring injury...finished season with 19 tackles (17 solo

CHARLIE JONES

Wide Receiver

82

5-8, 175
Second Year

Fresno State
Draft 4 - '96

NFL: Speedy, elusive receiver drafted in fourth round out of Fresno State in 1996, Jones heads into 1997 after stellar rookie season ...finished first NFL season ranked second on Chargers in receiving yards (524) and touchdown catches (four) and third on team with 41 receptions...four touchdown receptions and 41 receptions were most by Chargers' rookie since John Jefferson caught 13 touchdowns and 56 passes in 1978...524 yards receiving was highest total by Chargers' rookie receiver since Anthony Miller had 526 in 1988...showed big-play ability in first NFL season with receptions of 27 (twice), 31, 41 and 63 yards...Jones' 63-yard touchdown reception versus Tampa Bay Game 11 was longest touchdown reception by Chargers' rookie receiver since Don Woods had 75-yarder in 1974...runs very natural, precise routes...also can handle punt return duties...should continue to get even better in second NFL season under new Head Coach Kevin Gilbride's multiple-set offensive system. 1996: Started four of 14 games as rookie for Chargers in 1996...finished 1996 ranked second on team in receiving yards (524) and touchdown catches (four)...also ranked third on team with 41 receptions...Jones' 524 receiving yards were most by Chargers' rookie wide receiver since Anthony Miller had 526 as rookie in 1988...opened season with two catches for 23 yards in each of first two games, including versus Seattle Sept. 1 and Cincinnati Sept. 8...caught three passes for 28 yards Game 3 at Green Bay Sept. 15 and two passes for 47 yards Game 4 at Oakland Sept. 22...hauled in three passes for 25 yards Game 5 versus Kansas City Sept. 29...played but did not have any catches Game 6 at Denver Oct. 6...caught five passes for 52 yards, including 31-yarder, Game 7 versus Oakland Oct. 21...led Chargers with season-high seven catches for 79 yards, including first career touchdown Game 8 at Seattle Oct. 27...his touchdown came on post pattern from Sean Salisbury which Jones caught and raced straight up middle of field between two Seahawks' defenders for score...started first career-game at Indianapolis Game 9 and responded with three catches for 60 yards, including 41-yard touchdown which was routine five-yard out from Salisbury until Jones turned upfield and out ran two Colts' defensive backs on his way to endzone...also started Game 10 versus Detroit Nov. 11 and caught two passes for 21 yards...highlight of rookie season came Game 11 versus Tampa Bay when Jones took first-quarter slant pass from Stan Humphries and sprinted 63 yards for touchdown...was longest scoring reception by Chargers' rookie since Don Woods 75-yarder in 1974...unfortunately for Chargers, Jones strained muscle around ribs on play and was inactive Game 12 at Kansas City Nov. 24...returned to starting lineup Game 13 versus New England and caught five passes for 44 yards...also started Game 14 at Pittsburgh Dec. 8 and caught two passes for 19 yards...inactive Game 15 at Chicago after re-aggravating rib injury...started season finale and caught four passes for 40 yards and fourth touchdown of season versus Denver Dec. 22...Chargers' fourth-round draft choice and 114th player chosen overall in 1996 NFL Draft.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Born Charlie Edward Jones December 1, 1972, in Hanford, California...three-year starter for Fresno State and finished career as school's all-time record holder with 187

1996 GAME BY GAME

at San Diego 29, Seattle 7 (Sunday, Sept. 1)

The San Diego Chargers put together a solid team effort in defeating the visiting Seattle Seahawks, 29-7, in front of 58,780 fans. It was the Chargers' most-decisive victory since a 45-20 win over Miami on Dec. 27, 1993, a span of 37 regular season and postseason games. It was the Chargers' sixth-straight win over the Seahawks at home and ninth win in the last 10 meetings with Seattle. San Diego opened the scoring on its second possession with a 13-play, 80-yard drive which was culminated with a two-yard touchdown pass from Stan Humphries to Tony Martin. It was one of Martin's team-high seven catches for 66 yards and one score. After the Seahawks tied the score, 7-7, the Chargers' offense marched another 13 plays to set up the first of John Carney's five field goals. Carney connected from 35 and 53 yards in the first half to give San Diego a 13-7 lead at half-time. The second half was all San Diego as Carney added three more field goals, hitting from 22, 50 and 31 yards. It marked only the second time in Carney's career that he hit two 50+-yard field goals in a game. The Chargers showed a balanced offensive attack. The team's 387 total yards was split with 202 yards passing and 185 yards rushing. It was a running game by committee. Aaron Hayden led the group with 59 yards on 11 carries while starter Leonard Russell rushed 13 times for 46 yards and one touchdown. Terrell Fletcher added 49 yards on seven attempts. Humphries completed 21 of 38 attempts for 195 yards and one score. He completed passes to nine different players. The offense did not suffer a fumble, interception or sack. Defensively, cornerback Dwayne Harper led the team with 10 tackles and two passes defensed. Fellow cornerback Terrance Shaw and linebacker Glen Young had interceptions, both leading to field goals.

at San Diego 27, Cincinnati 14 (Sunday, Sept. 8)

The Chargers improved their record to 2-0 with a 27-14 win at home over the Cincinnati Bengals. The win gave San Diego its seventh consecutive regular-season win, including five at home, and only its second 2-0 start to a season since 1981. The Bolts took their second possession and drove 76 yards in 12 plays and Leonard Russell scored from one yard out. On their next possession, Stan Humphries drove the offense 71 yards in 11 plays and hit Tony Martin on a 21-yard scoring toss to give San Diego a 14-0 lead. Cincinnati tightened the score, 14-7, before halftime. The Chargers came out in the third period and marched 51 yards to set up a 47-yard John Carney field goal, his eleventh in a row. In the fourth quarter, Darrien Gordon returned a punt 64 yards to set up a 23-yard Carney chip shot. A Kurt Gouveia interception on the Bengals' next play set up Russell's second one-yard touchdown run of the game. The Bengals scored near the end of the game to end the scoring and give San Diego a 27-14 win. The Chargers' solid offensive performance included 114 yards rushing and 269 yards passing. The unit was successful on eight of 15 third-down attempts. Russell gained 62 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns. Humphries finished with 27 completions in 41 attempts for 275 yards, one touchdown and one interception.

at Green Bay 42, San Diego 10 (Sunday, Sept. 15)

The Chargers' seven-game regular-season winning streak came to an end with a 42-10 loss in Green Bay. It was the team's most-lopsided defeat since a 48-10 loss to the 49ers in 1988, a span of 123 regular and postseason games. The Packers scored on their first possession and San Diego tightened the score, 7-3, late in the first period with a 43-yard John Carney field goal. The Chargers went 55 yards in 10 plays to set up the score. Green Bay scored on its next two possessions, going 80 and 88 yards for touchdowns to take a 21-3 lead at halftime. The Packers outgained San Diego in total yardage, 231 yards to 73 yards, in the half. After Green Bay added another touchdown early in the third quarter, the Chargers scored their final points with a nine-yard Stan Humphries pass to Tony Martin. The Packers' final scores came on a 90-yard interception return and a 65-yard punt return. The Chargers were limited to only 141 total yards in the game, their lowest total since Oct. 10, 1993, when they were held to 138 yards in Pittsburgh. The team gained 108 yards passing and 33 yards rushing. Humphries completed 16 of 31 passes for 130 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions. Darren Bennett averaged 51.9 yards on seven punts. Rodney Harrison and Junior Seau had 14 and 12 tackles, respectively.

San Diego 40, at Oakland 34 (Sunday, Sept. 22)

The Chargers improved their record to 3-1 with a wild, 40-34 win over the division-rival Raiders in Oakland. It marked the third consecutive year that San Diego has begun the season with three or more wins in the first four weeks. After both teams were forced to punt on their first three possessions, the Chargers hit the scoreboard following a 35-yard punt return by Darrien Gordon. Five plays later, Stan Humphries hit Terrell Fletcher on a six-yard touchdown pass. A Kurt Gouveia interception gave the Chargers the ball on the Raiders' 11-yard line. Humphries hit Tony Martin on a seven-yard touchdown. Then Kevin Ross forced a Raiders' fumble and Humphries hit Martin on the next play for a 41-yard score to put San Diego up, 21-0, late in the first quarter. The second quarter was just as exciting as the teams traded scores to make it 27-14 at halftime. The Chargers got two field goals from John Carney (28 and 39 yards.) The Raiders tightened the score, 27-21, in the third quarter before Humphries responded with his career-high fourth touchdown pass, a 19 yarder to Martin. On the next possession and with the Raiders deep in Chargers' territory, cornerback Willie Clark stepped in front of a Jeff Hostetler pass and raced 83 yards to put the Chargers up for good, 40-21. Two late scores by Oakland made the final score, 40-34. San Diego won the turnover battle, 3-0, and converted all three takeaways into points. Oakland outgained the Chargers in total yards, 553 to 321. It was the most yards ever gained against San Diego. Humphries had one of the best days of his career, hitting 18 of 25 passes for 226 yards, four touchdowns and no interceptions. Martin caught 10 of those passes for 138 yards and a career-high three touchdowns. The defense notched four sacks, two interceptions and a forced fumble.

GAME 5

at San Diego 22, Kansas City 19 (Sunday, Sept. 29)

The Chargers moved into a tie for first place in the AFC West with a 22-19 win over the Chiefs in San Diego. The hard-fought defensive battle produced nine field goals and near-identical statistics. John Carney converted 33 and 38-yard field goals in the team's first two possessions. A Junior Seau interception set up the second score. A Chargers' fumble set up a field goal for the Chiefs. Kansas City hit two more field goals to take a 9-6 lead at the half. San Diego kicked another field goal in the third quarter to tie the game. The only San Diego touchdown came when Kansas City was forced to punt on their next possession and Darrien Gordon returned the kick 81 yards for his third-career score on a punt return. Just as quick as the momentum turned San Diego's way, it swung over to the Chiefs as it took them just two plays to score their first and only touchdown. Tied, 16-16, going into the fourth period, the teams traded field goals until Carney hit the final three-pointer from 33-yards out. Seau's second interception set up the game-winning kick. Chris Mims blocked the Chiefs' final 47-yard field goal attempt with :28 left in the game. The teams produced near-identical statistics in all major categories, including total yards (313 for San Diego to the Chiefs' 315), passing yards 238 for San Diego to 257 for Kansas City) and two turnovers each. The special teams contributed the 81-yard punt return by Gordon, a 57-yard kickoff return by Andre Coleman and the blocked field goal by Mims. Seau had a team-high 12 tackles, two interceptions, a sack and two passes defended.

at Denver 28, San Diego 17 (Sunday, Oct. 6)

The Chargers held a 17-0, second-quarter lead in Denver before the Broncos scored 28-unanswered points to defeat San Diego, 28-17. San Diego took its second possession and drove 72 yards in eight plays to set up John Carney for a 27-yard field goal. The defense forced Denver to punt on its first three possessions. Rodney Harrison made his first interception of 1996 to help set up San Diego's first touchdown, a five-yard touchdown pass from Stan Humphries to Terrell Fletcher. After the defense held again, the offense marched 64 yards in six plays and Tony Martin caught a six-yard scoring strike. With San Diego up, 17-0, with 2:51 left in the half, Denver drove 80 yards in 1:32 to score just before the half. The second half was all Denver. The Broncos chalked up three more touchdowns while San Diego was limited to 75 total yards. Denver outgained San Diego in total yards, 406 to 245. The Chargers were held to 35 yards rushing on 16 attempts. Humphries completed 23 of 35 passes for 237 yards and two touchdowns. He finished the game with a streak of 102 consecutive pass attempts without an interception. Fletcher caught a career-high 10 passes for 60 yards.

GAME 7

Oakland 23, at San Diego 14 (Monday, Oct. 21)

The Chargers suffered a host of injuries, including the loss of quarterback Stan Humphries, on the way to their second consecutive loss. The game was close throughout until Oakland sealed the 23-14 victory with a field goal with just under two minutes remaining. Oakland scored on its first offensive possession, and things got worse for San Diego when Humphries left the game late in the first quarter with a subluxated left shoulder. Sean Salisbury took over the reigns for Humphries and tied the score near the end of the first period with an 11-yard scoring toss to Tony Martin. Oakland led at the half, 13-7, after a field goal. The Raiders took a 20-7 lead in the third quarter before San Diego tightened the score when Salisbury hooked up with Martin again, this time on a 12-yard scoring pass. But the Raiders put the game away with a field goal with 1:42 left in regulation after a San Diego fumble gave Oakland the ball on the Chargers' 19-yard line. San Diego was held to a season-low 29 yards rushing on 20 carries, an average of just 1.5-yards per carry. The Chargers also suffered season highs with 84 penalty yards on nine penalties. Salisbury completed 22 of 35 passes for 252 yards, two touchdowns and one interception while filling in for Humphries. Martin's two touchdown catches were his eighth and ninth of the season, giving him a new personal single-season high. Linebacker Junior Seau led the defense with 11 tackles.

GAME 8

at Seattle 32, San Diego 13 (Sunday, Oct. 27)

The Chargers lost their third consecutive game, all to AFC Western Division opponents, with a 32-13 defeat in Seattle. The loss dropped San Diego to 4-4, giving the Chargers a .500 record at the half-way point in the season for the second-consecutive year. Seattle outgained San Diego in total yards, 404-322, including 208 yards rushing, the most rushing yards given up by the Chargers since Nov. 22, 1987, when the team gave up 277 yards at Seattle. Quarterback Sean Salisbury, who was starting in place of an injured Stan Humphries, completed 21 of 43 passes for 291 yards and one touchdown, but four interceptions proved costly. With Seattle leading 13-6 in the second quarter, safety Darryl Williams broke the game open with a 79-yard interception return for a touchdown. The Chargers tightened the score to 26-13 in the fourth quarter when Salisbury connected with rookie wide receiver Charlie Jones on a 27-yard touchdown. But Seattle put the game away when Chris Warren scored on a 37-yard touchdown run. Jones caught a team-high seven passes for 79 yards and his first career score. Andre Coleman became the Chargers' kickoff return leader with eight kickoff returns to increase his career total to 138. He surpassed Speedy Duncan (134) on the team's all-time list.

GAME 9

San Diego 26, at Indianapolis 19 (Sunday, Nov. 3)

The Chargers improved their record to 5-4 with their first win in four tries with a 26-19 win over the Colts in Indianapolis. San Diego's defense set the tone by intercepting a season-high four passes and recording a season-high six sacks. The Chargers also recovered a Colts' fumble for a season-high five takeaways which led to 20 of San Diego's 26 points. The Chargers also survived a club-record 15 penalties for a season-high 133 penalty yards. The Bolts got on the board first when Sean Salisbury hit Charlie Jones for a 41-yard touchdown pass on the Chargers' first offensive possession. The good field position was set up by Kurt Gouveia's third interception of the season, which tied his single-season career high. San Diego increased its lead to 13-0 on two John Carney field goals before the Colts kicked two of their own to make the score 13-6. Carney kicked two more field goals to increase San Diego's lead to 19-6. The Colts tightened the score, 19-12, with two more field goals of their own. San Diego struck again when Salisbury hit Tony Martin on a 22-yard scoring strike. The Colts scored a touchdown with 3:20 remaining to make the score, 26-19, but San Diego held on to win. Martin finished the day with six catches for 128 yards and one score for his twelfth career 100-yard receiving day. Gouveia, Terrance Shaw, Shawn Lee and Kevin Ross all recorded interceptions for the Chargers and Junior Seau (two sacks), Marco Coleman, Raylee Johnson, Chris Mims and John Parrella all recorded sacks. Safety Rodney Harrison led the defense with four passes defended and was tied with Ross and Shaw for the team-high with seven tackles.

GAME 10

at San Diego 27, Detroit 21 (Monday, Nov. 12)

The Chargers won their second-consecutive game with a 27-21 victory over the visiting Lions. The Chargers had their best game of the season on both sides of the ball, amassing a season-high 406 yards on offense while holding the Lions to 222 total yards, a season low for a Chargers' opponent. San Diego's offense converted nine of 16 third-down attempts for a season-high 56 percent and the team's 40:39 time of possession also was a season best. Stan Humphries, who returned to the starting lineup after missing two-and-a-half games with a dislocated left shoulder, completed 24 of 32 passes for a career-high .750 completion percentage. His 311 yards passing gave him his first 300-yard game of the season. San Diego got on the board first when Humphries hit Tony Martin with a 32-yard scoring strike. Detroit came storming back with two Barry Sanders touchdown runs. After a San Diego field goal made the score 14-10, San Diego got a huge lift from Andre Coleman when he hauled in his first-career touchdown reception on a 46-yard "Hail-Mary" attempt on the final play of the first half. San Diego extended its lead with a Humphries to Al Pupunu scoring toss and a John Carney field goal. A late Detroit score made the final 27-21. Martin finished the game with eight catches for 113 yards and one score for his second-consecutive 100-yard receiving day.

GAME 11

Tampa Bay 25, at San Diego 15 (Sunday, Nov. 17)

The Chargers dropped to 6-5 with a 25-17 loss to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in San Diego. The Bolts jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter but were doomed late in the game by three second-half interceptions. San Diego opened the scoring on its third play from scrimmage when quarterback Stan Humphries hit wide receiver Charlie Jones on a quick slant and Jones raced 63 yards for a touchdown. The Chargers extended their lead to 14-0 when running back Leonard Russell scored on a 14-yard touchdown run later in the first quarter. Tampa Bay tightened the score to 14-13 with two field goals and one touchdown in the second quarter. San Diego led 17-13 at the end of the third quarter, courtesy of a 42-yard John Carney field goal. The fourth quarter turned disastrous for the Chargers when Humphries was intercepted twice deep in San Diego territory, giving Tampa Bay the ball on the Chargers' 13 and 18-yard lines, respectively. The Buccaneers converted the turnovers into nine points on one field goal and one touchdown with a failed two-point attempt. Tampa Bay added a late field goal to extend its lead to 25-17. San Diego got the ball back with 1:05 remaining, but could only make it to Tampa Bay's 30-yard line before a Humphries' pass fell incomplete on the game's final play. Jones 63-yard touchdown was the longest by a Chargers' rookie since Don Woods had a 75-yarder in 1974.

GAME 12

San Diego 28, at Kansas City 14 (Sunday, Nov. 24)

The Chargers jumped out to a 21-0 first-half lead on their way to a 28-14 win over the Chiefs in Kansas City. The win improved San Diego's record to 7-5 and gave the Chargers a sweep of the two-game series over the Chiefs. San Diego opened the scoring when quarterback Stan Humphries hit wide receiver Tony Martin with a 20-yard scoring strike. The Chiefs took their next possession and marched deep into Chargers' territory but were stopped when safety Rodney Harrison intercepted a Steve Bono pass on San Diego's three-yard line. San Diego's offense responded with a 10-play, 97-yard drive which culminated with a four-yard Leonard Russell touchdown run. It was San Diego's longest scoring drive of the season. San Diego extended its lead to 21-0 when Humphries and Martin hooked up again, this time on a 10-yard touchdown pass. San Diego added to its lead when Russell capped a 10-play, 84-yard drive with his second rushing touchdown of the game. Two late Chiefs' scores made the final score 28-14. San Diego played a near-flawless game by allowing no sacks, no turnovers and being penalized just twice for 25 yards, all season lows. Harrison tied his career single-game high with two interceptions. Martin's two touchdown receptions gave him 13 on the season, one shy of the team's single-season record. Martin finished the game with 148 yards and two touchdowns on five catches for this fourteenth career and fourth 100-yard game of the season.

New England 45, at San Diego 7 (Sunday, Dec. 1)

The Chargers dropped to 7-6 with a 45-7 loss to New England. The 38-point deficit was tied for the fifth-worst in team history and was the Chargers' worst since Nov. 27, 1988, when they lost to San Francisco, 48-10, in San Diego. Penalties and a season-high six turnovers, including four interceptions and two fumbles, proved costly as the Patriots converted San Diego giveaways into 31 points. The Chargers also gave up a season-high six sacks. New England drove 64 yards on seven plays and opened the scoring with an eight-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Drew Bledsoe to wide receiver Terry Glenn on the first possession of the game. The Patriots added to their lead on their second possession when Bledsoe hit Keith Byars on a 19-yard touchdown pass. San Diego got its lone score of the night when Stan Humphries hit Tony Martin with a 46-yard touchdown strike to make the score 14-7 near the end of the first quarter. The touchdown reception gave Martin 14 on the season, tying a Chargers' team record set by Lance Alworth in 1965. From there on out it was all New England as the Patriots converted three interceptions into two touchdowns and a field goal and two more fumble recoveries into touchdowns. In addition to giving up six sacks, the Chargers lost Humphries with a concussion and wide receiver Andre Coleman with a bruised thigh in the third quarter.

GAME 14

at Pittsburgh 16, San Diego 3 (Sunday, Dec. 8)

The Chargers record dropped to 7-7 after a 16-3 loss at Pittsburgh. San Diego's defense kept the Chargers in the game throughout, but season lows in net passing yards (83), pass completions (10), points (three) and first downs (eight) on offense doomed San Diego. The Chargers were forced to punt a season-high eight times and also lost a season-high three fumbles. Pittsburgh scored six points off San Diego turnovers. Pittsburgh led at halftime, 13-0, after two Norm Johnson field goals (49 and 39 yards) and an 11-yard touchdown pass from Mike Tomczak to Andre Hastings. San Diego attempted to mount a comeback in the second half as the defense forced one fumble and intercepted a pass, but San Diego's offense could manage just a 25-yard John Carney field goal. Johnson added a 21-yard field goal in the fourth period to make the score 16-3. The Chargers drove deep into Pittsburgh territory twice in the fourth quarter but came away with no points in both instances. The first drive ended when running back Leonard Russell fumbled on the Steelers' five-yard line. The second drive got as deep as the Steelers' 10-yard line but came up short when quarterback Sean Salisbury was sacked on third and fourth downs. The Steelers rushed for 167 yards to San Diego's 65. San Diego punter Darren Bennett tied a career-high with eight punts. Cornerback Darrien Gordon set a personal single-game career-high with two interceptions.

GAME 15

at Chicago 27, San Diego 14 (Saturday, Dec. 14)

The Chargers traveled to chilly Soldier Field in Chicago and fell to the Bears, 27-14. The game was tied, 14-14, at halftime but the Chargers could manage no points in the second half as Chicago scored the final 13 points. The loss dropped San Diego's record to 7-8 and out of the playoff picture. The Chargers opened the scoring on their first possession by going 75 yards in five plays. Quarterback Stan Humphries hit wide receiver Andre Coleman with a 20-yard touchdown strike for the score. The Bears came right back by returning the ensuing kickoff all the way back to San Diego's 32-yard line. Ten plays later the score stood at 7-7 after Bears' quarterback Dave Krieg hit Bobby Engram with a seven-yard touchdown pass. Chicago took a 14-7 lead later in the first quarter on another Krieg touchdown pass. San Diego knotted the score up, 14-14, when running back Leonard Russell dove in from one-yard out. The play was set up by a pass interference call against the Bears in the endzone on the previous play. Chicago had all the points in the second half with two field goals and Krieg's third touchdown pass of the game. Chargers' wide receiver Tony Martin moved into ninth place on the team's all-time receptions list by increasing his total with the Chargers to 221 with nine catches in the game. Linebacker Junior Seau tied a personal single-game high with two sacks in the game. Seau also had a team-high 14 tackles.

GAME 16

at San Diego 16, Denver 10 (Sunday, Dec. 22)

The Chargers finished off their season with a 16-10 win over the AFC West Champion Broncos. The win improved San Diego's record to 8-8, marking only the second time in Head Coach Bobby Ross' tenure that the team did not finish with a winning record. Both teams were not at full strength as the Chargers were without defensive linemen Chris Mims, Reuben Davis, Shawn Lee and running back Leonard Russell due to injury while the Broncos rested several key starters for the playoffs. The first half was full of mistakes with the Chargers throwing three interceptions and the Broncos throwing another and losing two fumbles. Both teams converted turnovers into 10 points, with Denver scoring on a 51-yard Jason Elam field goal and a one-yard Terrell Davis run to take a 10-0 lead. San Diego returned the favor by converting two Denver turnovers into a nine-yard touchdown pass from Stan Humphries to Charlie Jones and a 50-yard field goal by John Carney. Carney supplied all the second-half scoring with field goals from 21 and 22 yards out to make the final score, 16-10. Linebacker Junior Seau and safety Rodney Harrison had outstanding performances for the Chargers' defense. Seau finished the game with eight tackles, three passes defended and two fumble recoveries. Harrison added five tackles, one sack, one interception in the end-zone to stop a Broncos' scoring threat and one pass defense. With six punts in the game, punter Darren Bennett set a team record for punts in a season with 87 (85, Rolf Mojsiejenko, 1988). Jones' touchdown catch was his fourth of the season, the most by a Chargers' rookie since John Jefferson had 13 in 1978.

1997 Important Dates

- July 15 - Signing period ends at 1 p.m. (PT) for Unrestricted Free Agents to whom June 1 tender was made by Old Club, Transition Players, and Franchise Players who are eligible to receive Offer Sheets. After this date and through 1 p.m. on Nov. 4, Old Club has exclusive negotiating rights to these players.
- Aug. 1 - If a drafted rookie has not signed with his club by this date, he may not be traded to any other club in 1997.
- Aug. 19 - Roster cutdown to maximum of 60 players on Active List by 1 p.m. (PT). World League exemptions expire.
- Aug. 24 - Roster cutdown to maximum of 53 players on Active/Inactive List by 1 p.m. (PT). Clubs may dress a minimum of 42 and maximum of 45 players and third quarterback for each game.
- Aug. 25 - Beginning at 1 p.m. (PT), clubs may establish a Practice Squad of five players by signing free agents who do not have an accrued season of free-agency credit, unless that season was achieved by spending an entire regular season on Reserve/Injured or Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform.
- Aug. 29 - All clubs are required to identify their 49-player Active List by 4 p.m. (PT) on this Friday and thereafter on each Friday before a regular-season game (or at 4 p.m. PT two days prior to non-Sunday games). No later than one hour and 15 minutes prior to kickoff, clubs must identify their 45-player Active List and Third Quarterback, if any.
- Aug. 31-
Sept. 1 - Regular-season opens.
- Sept. 16 - Priority on multiple waiver claims is now based on 1997 standings.
- Oct. 7 - All trading ends at 1 p.m. (PT).
- Oct. 8 - Players with at least four previous pension credits are subject to the waiver system for the remainder of regular season and postseason.
- Nov. 4 - Deadline for clubs to sign by 1 p.m. (PT) their Unrestricted Free Agents, Restricted Free Agents and draft choices to whom June 1 tender was made. If still unsigned after this date, such players are prohibited from playing in NFL in 1997.
- Dec. 27-28 - Wild Card Playoff Games.
- 1998
- Jan. 3-4 - Divisional Playoff Games.
- Jan. 11 - AFC and NFC Championship Games.

QUALCOMM STADIUM

August 2, 1997 marks a new era in San Diego Sports history. The Chargers' preseason opener versus the San Francisco 49ers will be the first-ever football game in Qualcomm Stadium, the city's newly-remodeled 71,000 seat stadium. The stadium that the Chargers have called home since 1967 underwent a major facelift which included the addition of 11,500 new seats, a state-of-the-art Gold Club level, 37 new luxury suites, a new west-end Jumbotron screen and a host of other changes.

The centerpiece of the renovated stadium is the Chargers Gold Club. Charger season ticket holders who purchase seats on the former loge level of the stadium will enjoy special amenities exclusive to Gold Club members. The 7,800 Gold Club seats are wider, padded seats and come equipped with an attached drink holder. To enhance the Gold Club experience, members will have wait service at their seats, featuring a menu complete with a variety of food specialties. Members also will enjoy the comfort of four fan-friendly lounges where they can relax in an air-conditioned setting before, during and after the game. Restrooms on the Gold Club level also have been upgraded and will be staffed with full-time attendants.

The former Jack Murphy Stadium was re-named Qualcomm Stadium after Qualcomm Corporation contributed $18 million for naming rights. Additionally, the total number of parking spaces at the stadium has been increased to 19,000, including 461 handicapped spaces, making the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium the second-largest in the National Football League. There has also been a significant increase in restroom capacity at the stadium, with the number of women's facilities almost doubled and the men's restroom capacity increased by 33 percent.

San Diego Stadium was originally built in 1967 as a home for the Chargers at a cost of $27 million. It was dedicated at a Chargers-Lions game on August 20, 1967, before a crowd of 45,988. The 1997 renovation marks the second major facelift to occur at the stadium. Originally built to a capacity of 52,000, the stadium was expanded in 1984 to increase seating capacity to 60,100. The most recent renovation will increase the seating capacity at the stadium to 71,600.

The team played before its first-ever sellout crowd on December 3, 1967 when 52,661 turned out to see the Chargers battle the Oakland Raiders. Over the last four seasons, the Chargers have sold out 30 of 32 regular-season home games and two playoff games.

CHARGERS TRAINING FACILITY

The San Diego Chargers will take a step into the future when the team moves into the Chargers Training Facility in 1997. The brand-new, $11.6 million facility, built by Douglas E. Barnhart, Inc., will serve as the year-round home of the Chargers. The 73,000 square foot facility features corporate offices, two natural grass practice fields, an artificial turf field, a state-of-the-art weight training center, a physical therapy center, locker rooms and team meeting rooms.

The directions to the Chargers Training Facility from Lindbergh Field are as follows: Exit the airport and take Harbor Drive south to Grape. Turn left on Grape and drive east for three traffic signals. Turn right onto I-5 South and follow to I-163 North. Take 163 North to I-8 East. Take I-8 East to I-15 North. Exit I-15 at Aero Drive and turn left at the top of the offramp. Turn right on Murphy Canyon Road. The facility is located at 4020 Murphy Canyon Road in San Diego.

CHARGERS' RADIO, TELEVISION

XTRA Sports 690, the 77,000-watt sports voice of Southern California, is the flagship station of the expanded San Diego Chargers' radio network. XTRA's nine-hour gameday broadcast is the longest in the NFL and can be heard during all 20 Chargers' preseason and regular-season games.

Along with XTRA in San Diego, the Chargers' radio network includes: KBLU (560 AM) in Yuma, Arizona; KENO (1460 AM) in Las Vegas, Nevada; KPSL (1010 AM) in Palm Springs, California; KWST (94.5 AM) in El Centro, Calif.; KVEC (920 AM) in San Luis Obispo, Calif.; and KSZL (1230 AM) in Barstow, Calif. Chargers' games also can be heard in Spanish on XEXX Radio (1420 AM) in San Diego.

KGTV, Channel 10, an affiliate of the American Broadcasting Company, will telecast all four of the Chargers' preseason games. The Chargers' Aug. 2 game versus San Francisco and Aug. 9 game versus Indianapolis will be shown live in San Diego beginning at 7 p.m., if both games sell out at least 72 hours prior to kickoff. The Chargers' Aug. 16 game versus Tennessee in Nashville, Tennessee, and Aug. 22 game at Minnesota will both be shown live in San Diego. Both games are scheduled to begin at 5 p.m.
